Seek Companion of Man Who Shot State Trooper

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.
Freeman Staff Writer

A heavily armed posse of nearly 100 state troopers, deputy sheriffs and local authorities today united in a massive manhunt in Southern Ulster County for one of two men wanted in connection with the shooting of an Ellenville State trooper Thursday night, and for questioning about crimes on the West Coast.

Bloodhounds Join Search

Major A. J. Robson, commander of Troop C, State Police, was in charge of the most extensive manhunt conducted in this county in years. State Police bloodhounds and bloodhounds from the office of Sheriff William B. Martin reportedly were taking part in the search for a man identified as Roy Edison Davis, 25, who escaped after a high-speed chase following the shooting of Trooper Stanley Kowalik shortly after 9:30 p. m. yesterday at Napanoch.

Captured at a roadblock near Wiedy's Furniture Co. at Accord, two hours after Kowalik was shot, but not seriously, was one of the pair identified as Wesley Allen Brown, 31, who gave his address as Spencerville, Md.

Brown was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppe, Town of Wawarsing on a charge of first degree assault. Other charges are pending.

The bizarre case started shortly after 9:30 p. m. yesterday when Trooper Kowalik checked suspicious occupants of a station wagon that stopped in front of Smith Brothers Garage at Napanoch.

Vehicle Under Surveillance

According to authorities, Kowalik had the vehicle under surveillance for some time. As he pulled up along side the station wagon, he noticed that one of the occupants had alighted and gone into the garage. Kowalik questioned the driver who produced a driver's license and identification. He was identified as Davis.

Seconds later the other man, Brown, left the garage with two bottles of soda he had purchased. He got in the car on the passenger side and allegedly picked up a revolver and after cautioning Kowalik "not to move" started to fire at the trooper.

Bullet Pierces Arm

One bullet pierced Kowalik's arm, and he slumped. Davis allegedly fired several more shots as the trooper emptied his gun. The vehicle sped away.

Kowalik pursued the fleeing station wagon at speeds exceeding 100 miles an hour along Route 209, as he radioed headquarters for assistance and reported the shooting. Three other trooper cars joined in the chase during which 20 shots or more were fired by (Continued on Page 10, Col. 3)

Hopes Allies Have New Views on War LBJ to Be Good Listener on Proposals For Ending Conflict; Rumor Viet Stop

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson hopes to learn from Far Eastern allies during his Manila conference trip new proposals for ending the war in Viet Nam and new plans for postwar security and reconstruction.

The President told a news conference Thursday, in confirming his schedule for a six-nation tour later this month, that at the Manila conference "I want to be a good listener as well as an active participant."

Most Extensive Ever

The schedule calls for the President to be in Manila from Oct. 23 to Oct. 27. He will meet with the government heads of South Viet Nam, Korea, Thailand, the Philippines, New Zealand, and Australia — nations with some forces in the Vietnamese war.

Seek Inspection Of New Business Sector Downtown

A "first hand inspection" of a commercial urban renewal site which has been developed, is sought by businessmen, who Thursday night discussed the possibility of local development of a new business section in downtown's Broadway East urban renewal area.

Eric Hemphill, executive director of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, reported some interest in making it a local development, but noted that "since the area to be developed, consisting of about six acres of land, is a sizeable undertaking, both in terms of money needed to finance it, and the scope of the development, further thought by local businessmen, of course, is essential."

Cites Other Project

He noted that a similar project has been successfully completed in Providence, R. I., and there may be others closer to Kingston. Such an undertaking by local (Continued on Page 10, Col. 2)

Buffer Zone Explodes In Air, Ground Action

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers pounded North Viet Nam just above the demilitarized zone Thursday night while tactical U.S. bombers struck 25 times inside the zone and allied troops fought hard just south of it.

As the once neutral buffer area along the 17th Parallel exploded again the three-pronged allied force waging Operation Irving closed in tighter on encircled Communist soldiers near South Viet Nam's central coast.

A company of the U.S. 1st spearheading Irving, burned down a Viet Cong hamlet 22 miles northwest of Qui Nhon, and American marksmen strafing reported killing 20 of the enemy as they fled.

Two miles south of the demilitarized zone, South Vietnamese paratroopers clashed with North Vietnamese army regulars Thursday in a vicious, four-hour battle that took a heavy toll on both sides.

An official spokesman said the North Vietnamese were attacked by a regiment—about 1,500 men—of North Vietnamese four miles southeast of Dong Ha, forward headquarters of U.S. Marines also trying to stop the North Vietnamese drive into the South.

The Vietnamese paratroopers called in U.S. air strikes, artillery support and naval gunfire, and a Vietnamese spokesman estimated 200 North Vietnamese (Continued on Page 14, Col. 7)

Merger Includes Central Hudson, Ellenville Utility

A general agreement has been reached with the principal officers of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., on a basis for the exchange of all of outstanding common stock of Ellenville Electric Company for Central Hudson common stock.

The announcement of the acquisition was made by Charles D. Raymond Sr., chairman of the board of Ellenville Electric on behalf of the firm's stockholders. Representatives of both companies are working out the formal terms of the merger agreement and the preparation of applications for approval of public authorities.

Lelan F. Sillin Jr., president of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, expressed his pleasure at this development and indicated that the anticipated merger of the two companies was a logical evolution of a long-

$500,000s Figure for Plant Job Completion Date Target July 1969

Kingston will have $500,000 to $600,000 worth of work to do on its sewage treatment plant to comply with requirements of a water purification plan due for completion in 1969, it was noted today.

A conference last month of local officials and William A. Keene, senior engineer of the New York State Department of Health, produced the following schedule, which, it was said, had been agreed upon:

Action Taken on First
Retain a consulting engineer by Oct. 1, 1966.

Engineering report completed by March 1, 1967.

Plans and specifications completed by Nov. 1, 1967.

Contract awarded Feb. 1, 1968. Start construction by March 15, 1968.

Completion of construction by July 1, 1969.

Although not officially completed action has been taken informally to comply with the first requisite.

State, Federal Sharing
Of the sum required to complete secondary treatment at the East Strand plant, 60 per cent of cost will be shared by State and federal governments.

City Engineer Thomas J. Wickman said present release from the local treatment plant is about 40 per cent pure. It will be some 70 per cent pure when the planned project is completed. The local treatment plant has been in operation some 20 years.

Engineer Wickman, Harry F. Edinger, director of environmental sanitation in the County Health Department, and Augustus S. Brinnier & Larios, consulting engineers, were at last month's meeting with Keene.

Council Has Letter
A letter dealing with the project was left with the Common Council at its Oct. 4 meeting.

It said in part: "An integral part of this pure water program is the enforcement of the above noted schedule. It has been the practice of this department (state health) to convene a commissioners' hearing at which time evidence is submitted by the department (Continued on Page 14, Col. 3)

NLRB Absolves Ferroxcube Firm

The National Labor Relations Board has ruled that there was "no substance" to objections of unfair labor practices and other charges raised by the International Union of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO, in conjunction with a campaign and vote held last fall at Ferroxcube Corporation of America plant, Saugerties.

In September 1965, representatives of IUE filed a petition with the regional NLRB representative, John M. Shea Jr., in Albany, asking that a secret ballot election be conducted for plant workers at Ferroxcube to determine whether IUE represented the majority of the workers there.

The election was conducted by the NLRB two months later, on Nov. 23, to determine whether the IUE would be the collective bargaining agent for some 800 (Continued on Page 14, Col. 8)

Chest Sets March, Dietz Show Again

The Ulster County Community Chest will try it again tomorrow—five area parades and a fireworks show — to officially launch its 1967 campaign.

All of the elaborate plans went by the boards last Saturday when the area was drenched. Chest officials are keeping their fingers crossed for good weather this week.

The five area parades will be in Saugerties starting at 12 noon, driving through Port Ewen at approximately 1:15, marching at New Paltz starting at 2:30 and returning to Kingston by way of Rosendale.

Parade at 7

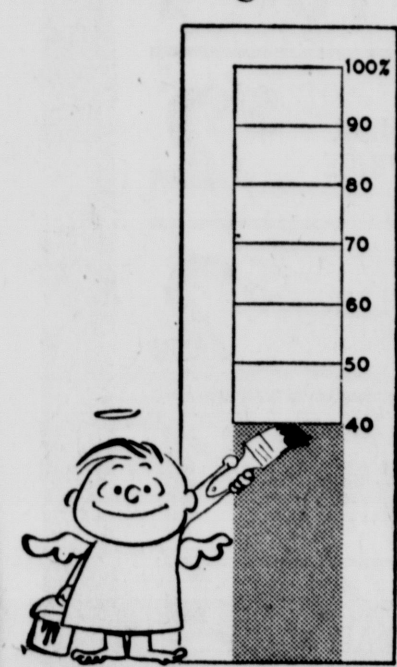

In Kingston the parade will start at 7 p. m. from Kingston High School, march up Broadway, through uptown to Dietz Stadium. In Saugerties and New Paltz local units will be heading the parades. In Saugerties, Mayor Cornelius M. Cox and Chairman of the Saugerties Township Campaign, Pamela Davis, Miss Saugerties, the Junior Chamber of Commerce local Boy and Girl Scouts and the Salvation Army will march.

In New Paltz, Jack Wyman, campaign chairman, Mayor Henry DuBois, the high school band, local Boy and Girl Scouts and the Salvation Army will march.

The main body of the parade consists of floats by the agencies to depict their service to highlight the theme "One Gift Works Many Wonders." Also participating will be 13 Red Feather girls from Kingston High School and Troop 12 Drum and Bugle Corps.

The show at Dietz Stadium at 8 p. m., in addition to the big (Continued on Page 14, Col. 2)

Chest Figures

Campaign Chairmen C. E. Raible and G. W. Tamke announced today $119,840, has been received to date towards the $299,600, which is the required amount by the 13 agencies for operating expenses in 1967. Optimism was expressed since at this time last year only $35,000 had been received. Caution was expressed, however, that every employer must enable the Chest to conduct an in-plant solicitation and every citizen must donate $1 per agency if hourly paid or 1/2 of 1 per cent or one day's pay if salaried. The additional funds required will not be raised if every citizen in the Chest area does not give.

It is hoped that 80 per cent of the campaign will be completed by Oct. 15, and it will not be necessary to extend the campaign. However, all campaign workers must complete their calls and report results.

Act to Vote on New Schools

Educators Plan Airing Of Elderly Tax Relief

School tax exemptions of 50 per cent for property owners in Kingston Consolidated School District over 65 years of age with an annual income not exceeding $3,000, and a referendum to authorize an increase in bonded indebtedness for new schools, were key matters aired Thursday night by the Board of Education.

New legislation passed recently would permit tax exemptions of 50 per cent for elderly taxpayers, providing the exemptions are approved by officials of local communities and boards of education.

To Arrange Hearing

The Board decided to arrange for a public hearing to give taxpayers of the district an opportunity to discuss pros and cons of the tax exemption proposal. Although no definite date was decided, it was indicated that the third week of November would be selected for the hearing to be held in the George Washington School auditorium.

Arthur H. Withall, board president who proposed the hearing, noted that information as to the number of persons who would be involved in the school tax exemption was "very vague" at this time.

The board unanimously approved the suggestion of Withall to hold the hearing, and agreed that Ira M. Shaw, associate superintendent for business management, should preside at the public session, which will be attended by board members.

Shaw said that he already had gathered some information for assessors of some townships regarding those taxpayers who might be eligible for the tax relief.

Board Has Final Say

It was explained that the school board would make the final decision regarding the tax exemption proposal. During the discussion it was pointed out (Continued on Page 10, Col. 1)

Board Indicates Favorable View On Dues Check

Proposals requesting payroll deductions for dues of members of the Kingston Teachers Federation and the Kingston Teachers Association, were discussed Thursday night by members of the Board of Education of the Consolidated School District, and favorable action was indicated at a later date.

Supt. of Schools W. Wendell Hoover read letters from the presidents of the KTF and KTA requesting the deductions. Dr. Hoover said that in his opinion the plan is feasible if the costs were not too high. He noted that the system is in effect in some other school districts.

Early '67 Word Implied

Ira M. Shaw, associate superintendent for business management, said there would be a cost factor of $200 to $250 for setting up the operation. A further study of the plan to determine what would be involved in addition to added work and costs was suggested by Trustees Bevier H. Sleight and Ellsworth L. Johnson.

Decision was deferred after Shaw suggested that he should meet with officers of the KTF and KTA to give further study to the proposal. It was indicated that a decision would be reached early in 1967.

In other business the board, on recommendation of Dr. Hoover, appointed Miss Marjorie Zoller head teacher at School 7 for the school year 1966-67, with a differential of $200 above her regular teacher's salary, retroactive to Sept. 1.

Register Tonight, Saturday

Polls will be open tonight until 10 o'clock for registration of voters in the City of Kingston for the general election on November 8. Saturday the polls will be open again from 10 in the morning until 10 in the evening.

In the districts outside the City of Kingston, the polls will be open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

This is a very important election. Candidates will be elected to fill national, state and county offices. Delegates to the Constitutional Convention will be named. Up for action of voters also will be eleven Constitutional Amendments and one proposition.

Registration is an inescapable prerequisite for voting. Putting it off may cost you your vote as something may happen to prevent your registering next week.

Plan to register tonight or tomorrow.

Cooper Lake Gains Key in Future Development

Slate Hydraulic Survey of City's Water System; to Aid Future Need

A hydraulic survey of Kingston's water system is due to start in 1967 as the result of Thursday night action by the Board of Water Commissioners, which also noted a consulting engineers' report citing improvement of Cooper Lake, the city's main reservoir, as a chief factor in future development.

A contract with The Pitometer Associates Engineers, of New York, was approved for the survey to start next year. In it complete field data on operation of the existing system would be obtained, and engineers will determine internal condition of pipes.

The city will be divided into sections, each of which would be measured for 24-hour periods. Actual per capita consumption will be studied for possible future development, and an estimate will be made of future population and water requirements in each section as well as in the entire area supplied by the city. Such surveys, it was noted, have been completed in several upstate cities.

The engineering study will enable the city "to utilize the existing distribution system facilities to their ultimate and provide an economic program for expansion of the system to meet requirements as the city grows."

From Manganaro, Martin and Lincoln, of New York, consulting engineers, the board received an interim report, which had been requested to update the comprehensive survey and report of the water system submitted in 1960 by the engineers.

In this report the recently completed capital improvement program was summarized as follows:

Contract 19, Cleaning and Cement-Lining the principal mains in South Manor Avenue, Foxhall Avenue, Broadway, and Avenue 20, Distribution System Improvements, and Building additions and new equipment at the Filter Plant (Work performed principally by Department forces).

Contract 19 and 20 improvements were directed mainly at abatement of deficiencies found by the American Insurance Association (formerly National Board of Fire Underwriters). The improvements will remove the threat of an increase in premiums for fire insurance in the business district, and will im-

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

It is said, when the maple trees begin to turn to gold it is the most beautiful time of the year around here. It so happens that the Beautification of America U. S. postage stamp will come out on first day covers on Oct. 5, from Washington, D. C. Perhaps some children have outlined a small maple leaf on an envelope and colored it yellow, red and green and sent it off for first day cancellation. When I taught drawing and arts and crafts many years ago, I found little children were only too happy to bring in these colorful leaves, outline them and color them, but of course that was before they were bused in. I wonder if it is known locally by the Kingston Consolidated School System, which was voted down by the taxpayers, that the sugar maple tree was selected by school children in 1889 as the New York State tree. In 1956 the legislature made the selection official. It is nice knowing that sometimes a majority vote is upheld, as was the school children's vote for the sugar maple tree. I was certainly delighted to see that the powers that be left in Kingston, in 1966 did honor Rondout with a visit of the Secretary of the Interior, Stewart L. Udall. I saw one police-car, one local radio car, and three official cars, that is all. They came slowly up Broadway after looking at Urban Renewal Broadway East from the Strand up, after coming in from Abeel Street as they had seen Perrine's Covered Bridge at Rifton, the D & H Canal at High Falls and other interesting landmarks, of which we have many. I was all alone on the Broadway East block from East Union to Meadow Street, so we could not miss each other. We had a beautiful sunny day, luckily, and Mr. Udall covered much ground in the taxpayers, that the sugar maple tree was selected by school children in 1889 as the New York State tree. In 1956 the legislature made the selection official. It is nice knowing that sometimes a majority vote is upheld, as was the school children's vote

Congressman Resnick certainly should be congratulated in being able to encourage national figures, and especially men with homes in the west and south-west, to come and see the Catskill Mountains, the Hudson River Valley, the first capitol of New York State, the home of John Vanderlyn, who painted the Landing of Columbus, which painting still graces the Rotunda at the Capitol in Washington, D. C. We in Kingston, are in the midst of an upheaval the outcome of which we cannot predict, at this present time. The forced sales, the changing neighborhoods insisted upon by the powers to be, Kingston was burned twice by the Indians and once by the British and was able to rebuild itself again and again. I remember when some of the Rondout store-keepers started to run to other parts of the city, now I see small and large stores on Wall Street, North Front Street, Fair Street going empty just as it started in Rondout. The one private parking lot is no longer being used because of financial difficulties, the other two North Front Street parking lots are seldom if ever filled. The DeWall Tavern is gone, demolished for the black-top North Front Street parking lot.

I do not know what will save the various business sections of Kingston, but I like row of stores, with lights and friendly store-keepers, which used to be such a nice part of Kingston, as we used to say, "Let's go up town, perhaps go to the movies and eat and shop afterwards."

With election just around the corner, it may be interesting to note that after the Britisher, Vaughn, burnt Kingston in 1777 a lottery was granted to provide 2,000 pounds for rebuilding the court house. George Washington personally managed a lottery in 1768 to build a road through the Cumberland Mountains. In 1799 some $100,000 was to be raised by four lotteries, $87,500 of which went for the support of common schools. In 1801, $100,000 more was raised by lottery for school purposes, of which sum $50,000 was devoted to common schools. So many have asked me to repeat the above in history of lottery in America.

People* who hate double-talk about home heating costs like Oil Heat's Provable Savings!

*and that includes the majority of knowledgeable Hudson Valley homeowners—

Calculating fuel costs, from sliding-scale utility rates, is enough to confuse a computer. Your heating bills can vary, from a lot to a "minimum" (even during the summer when you use no fuel), and lowest-quoted rates often apply only to volumes ridiculously beyond amounts the average home ever needs. Contrast this with "know-what-you-pay-for-it" Oil Heat — at a low price per gallon. You don't need a slide rule to prove that economical Oil Heat is your best bargain. Double check with your oil-heated neighbor: The answer's as plain as the smile on his face!

STRAIGHTFORWARD CHART PROVES OIL HEAT SAVES UP TO 66% OVER UTILITY FUELS—

Here's a down-to-earth, no-argument way to compare oil heat with one utility fuel: If you were to heat your home electrically, at prevailing rates of 1½¢ pr KWH, for example, that would be equivalent—in terms of what you could spend for the same amount of heat with oil—to 48.9¢-per-gallon fuel oil! But everyone knows that oil only costs you about one-third of that!

Electric Resistance Heating at:	Is Equivalent to #2 Fuel Oil Costing This Much:
2.8¢ per Kilowatt Hour	65.2¢ per Gallon
1.8¢ per Kilowatt Hour	38.8¢ per Gallon
1.5¢ per Kilowatt Hour	48.9¢ per Gallon

Questions Often Asked About Chest Drives

Why does the Chest tell me to give a fair share? is a question frequently asked these days in view of the present Community Chest campaign to raise $299,600 for operating expenses for its 13 member agencies in 1967.

Yes, the phrase, give a fair share has provoked controversy. Some interpret it as telling them what they should give. There is a problem, however, for when you combine 13 agencies appeals in one how many citizens will give 13 times the amount they would give to one. So we suggest a guide and surprisingly enough as little as 25¢ per week or $1 per month from hourly paid citizens and ½ of one per cent or one day's pay from businesses and salaried citizens would raise the total amount needed.

Another reason we seek a "Fair share-enough for all" gift is to then encourage payroll deductions or monthly office billing. In this way it is like the agencies asking you each month for a gift without all the full and bother of a campaign each month.

It makes it easier too—to give enough for all and we are certainly used to a sense of deduction from the paycheck anyway.

Will Face Sentencing On 2nd Felony Count

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A 35-year-old man faces sentencing Monday as a second felony offender on an assault conviction after a jury ruled that he was the same man found guilty of murder 12 years ago in Tennessee.

William C. Stubbs of Dansville south of Rochester, had demanded the brief identity trial Sept. 20, when his sentencing originally was scheduled. It was granted by Judge John J. Conway Jr. of Monroe County Court after the defendant refused to admit that he also was the convicted slayer.

The jury returned its finding Thursday after John C. Wooten, a former district attorney of Sullivan County, Tenn., identified Stubbs visually and through court records.

Stubbs was convicted here July 14 on charges of first-degree assault and illegal possession of a revolver. Police said he fired the weapon at a home owner who discovered him crawling outside his house.

Reid Issues Report On Rosendale Meeting

The following is a statement submitted to The Freeman by Joseph S. Reid, trustee of the Village of Rosendale:

Monday night, September 26, there was a joint meeting called between the Rosendale Town Board and the Rosendale Village Board to discuss problems concerning the Town Constabulary and Village Police. Sheriff Bill Martin was invited by some members of the Village Board to assist in ironing out some of the problems. It seems, however, that there was some misunderstanding as to whether or not the meeting would be open to the public. One citizen, Mr. Alfred Ackerman of Tilson and of the Village was already in the meeting room and a number of people were waiting outside to see if they would be admitted when the meeting started. All of the Town Board was there except Justice LeFever (R), who had not yet arrived. The Village Board members were all present, and Sheriff Martin was in the Village attending to some police matters and was to join the meeting later.

"But before the meeting got underway, Supervisor Gerard DeFelice (R) stated that the meeting was not open to the public and that meant that Mr. Ackerman would have to leave and those waiting outside would not be allowed to enter. This act excluded a number of interested citizens of both the Town and Village, and Trustee LaFera (D), Trustee Reid, (D), Mayor Mulligan, (Peoples) Justice McMonagle, (R) and Councilman Snyder, (R) seemed to be of the opinion that the public should be allowed to be present, but have no voice in the proceedings. Supervisor DeFelice and Councilman Strobel, (R) were dead set against the public attendance, and after a heated discussion between Justice McMonagle and Supervisor DeFelice, the Supervisor stated that as far as he was concerned there would be no meeting. At this point, Mayor Mulligan left and was followed by the other members of the Village Board. Mr. Reid and Mr. LaFera. The meeting was to be at 8 p. m. and at 8:10 p. m. the place was empty and the lights out and doors closed. At 8:15 p. m. Sheriff Martin arrived and found the place deserted.

"A very contradictory report of this was presented in the papers by Supervisor DeFelice in which he stated that the only reason he called the meeting off was because only one citizen was present."

Trap Rock Names Vice-Presidents From New Jersey

S. Cortland Wood, president of the New York Trap Rock Corporation, West Nyack, has announced the election of Wallace M. Dillon Jr., to senior vice-president and William W. Karl to vice-president of the company. Dillon will assume broader corporate responsibilities and included in Karl's responsibilities will be production and marketing operations.

Dillon, an electrical engineer, who joined Trap Rock in May 1960, has been serving as vice-president of the corporation. A native of Washington, D. C., and a 1949 graduate of Princeton University, he was formerly engineer of marine systems for General Electric in Schenectady. He came east to accept a job with Trap Rock directly from Mexico where he held a plant assistant superintendent's position for a ten year period with American Smelting and Refining Company. During World War II he served three years with the U. S. Army — a portion of this period as a 1st Lieutenant in the ETO.

Dillon and his wife Jean reside at 110 Cottage Lane, Blaauvelt, with their four children.

Karl started with the company in June 1961 and since that time has been connected with the lightweight aggregate operation in various capacities. He is a former president of Lehigh Materials Company, Tamaqua, Pa. His six years with that company started March 15, 1955 when he joined the firm as sales manager developing the use of lightweight aggregate in structural concrete. Prior to that service, the New York Trap Rock vice president was a manager with the M. F. Hickey Company, ready-mix concrete producer, active in various phases of the business.

After graduating with a B.S. degree in Civil Engineering from Duke University in 1944, Karl served for nearly three years in the U. S. Navy. A lieutenant (j.g.), he saw active duty as engineering officer on an LSM in the Pacific Theatre of operations.

Upon returning from the service he worked as assistant borough engineer for two years in the Borough of Glen Ridge, N. J. Another two year stint saw him with the Universal Atlas Cement Company as technical service engineer.

Karl and his wife Mary Anne reside at 79 Harrison Street, Verona, N. J., with their two sons.

Farmer Home Loans Record Total in State

More than 1,642 New York families made use of Farmers Home Administration's farm ownership loan program during fiscal 1966 (July 1, 1965 to June 30, 1966). Barthly L. Beach, the agency's state director reported this week.

Loans totaling over $5,700,000 — a record amount — were made to 306 New York families to buy, develop and enlarge farms or to refinance debts. An additional 1,336 families continued to use farm ownership credit obtained in previous years. Farm and financial planning and technical assistance accompanied each loan.

Private sources provided the funds for nearly all loans on an insured basis. Credit was extended to only those farmers unable to obtain needed financing from conventional sources. Beach said that the latest in the yearly FHA survey of farm ownership borrowers shows that on the average over a five-year period, borrowers raised their gross cash incomes from $9,383 to $17,410 and made substantial gains in net worth.

"Without this aid through the farm ownership program to strengthen their economic positions," State Director Beach said, "many families would have been forced to leave the country and seek employment in the cities."

More than 89,000 farm families across the nation made use of Farmers Home Administration's farm ownership loan program during fiscal 1966. Losses on these loans to farm borrowers who are unable to get credit elsewhere are less than one-half of 1 per cent of the amount loaned, and repayment currently is running 102 per cent of the amount due.

South Seeks Needed Trick

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

It usually pays to try to develop your longest suit at no-trump. In that case you must scramble for your tricks somewhere else.

South was one point shy for his two no-trump response to his partner's opening bid. He hoped that his two ten spots would make up for that deficiency.

South captured East's jack of spades with his king and counted seven quick winners. He needed two more. One way to get them would be to give his opponents a diamond trick. The trouble with that line of attack was that South had also counted up four quick losers—three spades and the ace of hearts. The diamond trick would be a fifth and you can't lose five tricks and make three no-trumps.

Therefore it was up to South to look for two extra winners somewhere other than in the diamond suit. The only other place was in hearts, but they might well be there. South led his ten of hearts and let it ride. When it knocked out East's ace South still had to worry about spades. Perhaps West had opened fifth best instead of fourth best. However, West could only take three spade tricks. After that South would repeat the heart finesse to bring home the bacon.

East criticized his partner's opening lead but if West had opened any other suit South could have set up dummy's diamonds and make his contract with four diamonds, four clubs and at least one trick in spades or hearts.

Peking Indicates Teen Guards Will Be Around, Active

TOKYO (AP)—Where do China's young Red Guards stand? Are they likely to survive as a major force on the Communist mainland?

Organized last spring in Peking, the Red Guards on Aug. 18 won the public backing and sponsorship of Chinese Chairman Mao Tse-tung and military strongman Lin Biao. Since then they have run a feverish course trying to remake a nation of 700 million people overnight, declaring war on old customs, habits and institutions.

Zenith on Sept. 15

They reached their zenith Sept. 15 when Mao and Lin reviewed a million of them in Peking's Gate of Heavenly Peace Square.

Japanese correspondents in the Chinese capital say that the Red Guards have served their purpose, awakening the country just before the critical harvest. Now they will be quietly transformed into a labor reserve for the countryside.

Official Peking, however, indicated they will be around and active for a long time to come.

Their role was noted with official approval at last Saturday's celebration of the 17th anniversary of communism's capture of China.

An anniversary day editorial in the Communist party organ, People's Daily, praised the youths as "the valiant revolutionary Red Guards" and said "they have smashed to smithereens the large amounts of

Then as though to dispel any idea the guards are a transient thing, it listed them as being among the millions of military and militia who would repulse a U.S. attack.

Must Discipline Group

That the Red Guards will be called upon for action seems more than likely. But now that their initial violence has stirred up the country, the Maoist leadership must discipline and sharpen them for more specific jobs.

Vice Premier Chen Yi told visiting Japanese recently that the party still makes policy decisions, not the guards. But if the guards want to indulge in some hearty, harmless horseplay, such as destroying the statue of the "Goddess of Liberty" at Canton, who can find fault?

Hints from Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Folks:

No matter how hard we try to keep our oven clean when we bake in it, once in a while we'll fill the baking utensil too full and that casserole or pie just WILL boil over.

Quite by accident I learned something real tricky last week. Know those old throw-away frozen dinner pans and pie pans we all save?

What are they good for? Ah-ha... see where the multitude of drips are coming from, and slide one of these pans under that very spot on the shelf below.

I have now learned that when I bake something that might drip or overflow, I can take two of these wonderful pans and put them on the floor of my oven just in case there are drips. These can be used over and over again.

Heloise

Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise:
I cleaned the bathtub with the broom today (as you suggested). That experience was good and bad.

Good 'cause the tub got clean, but bad 'cause my string of pearls broke.

Good 'cause I was leaning over the tub at the time and didn't lose any, but bad 'cause I haven't any dental floss in the house so I can restring them.

But good 'cause they only cost 59 cents three years ago!

Sue

Dear Heloise:

When you're moving, pack your dishes between paper plates to prevent breakage.

While you're getting settled in your new home, use the paper plates during mealtime.

Kathy

Dear Heloise:

A long time ago, I read in your column of a bachelor's hint about washing dishes. He put liquid detergent directly on a damp sponge and wiped his dishes with it. Then he just rinsed them under hot water.

I have used this method ever since, but I put a double layer of nylon net over the sponge. Some detergents last (with only one squirt) through the whole batch of dinner dishes, pots, pans and all.

Being an "outside-of-the-home-working-woman," I need all the shortcuts I can find, and I think this is one of the best and most frequently used.

Dot Phillips

Dear Heloise:

I suggest putting a curb guard (ordinarily used on your car fender to guide you in curb parking) on the right inside frame of your garage door to aid you in driving into the garage.

Our curb guard sticks out about 12" from the door frame, and I put a small plastic bottle over the end so the metal would not scratch the paint on the car fender.

Mrs. Ferren

Dear Heloise:

I would love you to pass along this little hint for folks who have crowded clothes hanging space, and when they take a blouse or dress out, the collar insists on turning the wrong way.

Here is a solution: When you iron the garments just put a hair clip on each side of the collar. They hold it down nicely.

Jerrie Lane

Dear Heloise:

The droppers from my children's bottles of liquid vitamins fit perfectly on my little bottles of food coloring, almond extract, etc.

Replacing the usual food coloring cap with a cleaned dropper has saved me a lot of green, red, and yellow fingers!

Dear Heloise:

I am just wild about dyeing shoes...

Since I am not a very good artist, I sometimes make a mess around the sole or the cap of the heel.

I found that if I buy an inexpensive felt-tipped ink marker and go around the edge of the sole, that I can cover my mistakes and have a professional-looking dye job.

I found that either brown or black markers cover best and look the most natural.

Hope Wife, Spouse
Romantic Duo Is Accepted by Fans

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Will movie audiences go for a real-life husband and wife as a romantic duo on the screen?

Warner Brothers hopes so. The studio has cast Christopher Jones and his wife, Susan Strasberg, as young lovers in a new film called "Chubasco."

He's the lad who played Jesse James in the television series that was shot down last season; she's the daughter of method-acting mentor Lee Strasberg.

Approved Plan
The Joneses approve of the co-starring.

"It's much easier to play romantic scenes," said she. "Most of the time you do love scenes with strangers; by the time you become acquainted and work together with ease, the scene is over."

"It works out well, except when she (Susan) gets too set in her performance," said Jones. "Then I just reach around and slap her on the rear and she comes out of it."

Director Allen Miner observed that most young marrieds lack the "chemistry" to play lovers on the screen. The Joneses are the exception in "Chubasco," he added, quite naturally.

Favorite Expression
"Chemistry" is a favorite Hollywood expression to indicate the appeal and interplay of a co-starring pair. From a cursory glance at film history, it would appear that married stars fail to set off a chemical reaction on the screen — unless they play a married couple.

The most notable case in recent times concerns Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton. In "The Sandpiper" she played a Bohemian artist, he a minister and boys' school principal who was married. Her seduction of Burton brought snickers from audiences and scorn from critics.

Curiously, the most famous screen pair of another generation, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, also starred together in "The Taming of the Shrew." It was their only co-starring film and the first talkie for both. It was not a success.

Firemen Plan an Exciting Program for Coming Week

Fire Prevention Week begins on Oct. 10 and continues until Oct. 15 in the Village of Saugerties. Volunteer firemen ask the support of the people of the Village of Saugerties, for help in making this week a successful promotion of a most worthwhile cause.

Volunteer firemen hope residents will visit their respective firehouses and see what the Village has to offer in fire protection and fire prevention.

The program for Fire Prevention Week is as follows:
Monday, Oct. 10—At 7 p. m. the siren will sound starting the official opening of Fire Prevention Week in Saugerties. Individual companies will canvass the areas to which they are assigned during the annual spring and fall fire inspections, distributing fire prevention literature.

Tuesday, Oct. 11—At 10 a. m. one of the fire company trucks will visit the St. Mary School and public elementary school. Firemen will talk to school children on the importance of fire prevention.

Wednesday, Oct. 12—All firehouses (uptown and C. A. Lynch) will be open to public from 7 to 9 p. m.

Thursday, Oct. 13—All firehouses will be open to the public from 7 to 9 p. m.

Friday, Oct. 14—At 6 p. m. to 9 p. m. one of the trucks of the Saugerties Fire Department will be parked on Main Street, and members of the department will distribute fire prevention literature. Free fire hats or balloons to be given to all children. At 9:15 p. m. at the main firehouse, a display of fire equipment will be shown to the public.

Open House Week Slated at Seamon

October 9 to 15 is Open House Week at Seamon Park in Saugerties, by proclamation of Mayor Cornelius M. Cox. Calling the 13 and a half acre site the "Garden Spot of Ulster County," Mayor Cox has congratulated the park board and Edward Lillis, caretaker on its beauty.

"Hundreds of mums of different varieties and in shades of yellow, maroon and white will be in bloom," said Mrs. Ralph Lachman, who is planning the event. She urged that all area residents stop to enjoy the walks, playground and picnic areas of the park and added that there would be no formal ceremonies.

Mrs. Marie Cunningham is chairman of the Seamon Park board, whose members are Mrs. Blanche Nolan and William A. Voerg. Village Commissioner of Parks and Playgrounds is Richard Underhill. The groundskeeper, Mr. Lillis, lives on the premises, and has taken care of the park for the past four years.

Spotlights illumine the 2,000 blossoms at night on the land donated to the village by John Seamon in 1909. Contestants for the "Miss Saugerties" title will pose for photographers near the site where Seamon spoke at the dedication ceremony. At that time he said, in part, "I sincerely hope and trust that you will come here as often as you can and take an interest in this park. Now, with God's blessing, may you all live long to enjoy it."

Plaques in the area also commemorate the generosity of Mary and Henrietta Seamon, who bequeathed a fund in trust for the care of the park, and the efforts of Mrs. Maude Washburn and her group of Campfire Girls, who built the cobblestone fireplaces in the picnic area. Everyone who can is invited to stop at the park during Open House Week and throughout the fall foliage season.

Cabinet Official Lauds Paltz Plan On Nature Study

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall's visit to the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Center's Project in Nature Education (PINE) on Sept. 29 began with "Now go out and catch a grasshopper." This was Dr. Phyllis Bush, Conservation Educator for the project directing Mrs. Margaret Casson's State University College Campus School Kindergarten and visitors including Secretary Udall to search the fields for grasshoppers to feed a caged bird.

"Do you see how hungry it is?" Secretary Udall did. "Let's see who comes back with the first grasshopper." After observing the caged bird with the kindergarten students, Secretary Udall queried of Dr. Bush, "What happened to its wing?" "It seems to us that possibly what happened was that someone tried to keep it as a pet and didn't know how to clip it. I found it that way."

Someone else said that the PINE program was attempting to introduce conservation education into the elementary curriculum of the Mid-Hudson Schools. Secretary Udall noted, "We are not going to be able to produce respect for nature that will enable us to save this country, without such out-of-door centers as this." "I caught a grasshopper cleared the air from one kindergarten" and the secretary's conversation had been interrupted. Dr. Bush asked the enthralled group to "Watch what he does with his feet when he eats the grasshopper." The secretary inquired as to "When the PINE program took place." George Fernandez, assistant superintendent, Ulster BOCES answered "The entire program is carried on during the school day. No school schedules are upset. In this way you can take the children out on two or three field trips." Udall quickly noted, "I'll bet you can teach children more as a result of this approach to conservation education. How was this project funded?"

Dr. Kenyon Outlines

Dr. Raymond G. Kenyon, regional director, Mid-Hudson Regional Educational Center, touring the project with the secretary said: "Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. This is one of four projects the Regional Center is operating in the five and one-half counties of the Mid-Hudson Region." Secretary Udall quizzically stated, "I had no idea they were approving projects like this at any time. This type of conservation program and project is the only one I know of under this act."

Dr. Kenyon presented him with a bound copy of the project proposal and noted that "twenty copies of the proposal were sent to the Title III Coordinator, State Education Department, Albany, New York and twenty copies to the Division of Supplemental Plans, HEW, Office of Education in Washington, U. S. Commissioner of Education Harold Howe approved and funded this project to Ulster County BOCES who is the Legal Applicant for the Regional Centers proposals. We at the Center then contracted a first-tier contract for one year to the Mid-Hudson Catskills Museum to carry out the objectives and educational program of the proposal. George Wislocki was appointed project director, and is responsible for both quarterly reports and fiscal accounting of this particular project to the Regional Director and Ulster BOCES." Candidly, this is how our project was funded and is operating.

Secretary Udall added "I'm happy Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick coordinated my tour to include the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center's PINE. It has been one of my most informative visits."

As the secretary ascended aloft the 21 Campus School Kindergarten were as intrigued by his helicopter as they were with searching for grasshoppers.

Reflects on New Hampshire Woods Ordeal at Age 5

By JEAN HELLER
NEW YORK (AP) —The 5-year-old child wandered through the New Hampshire woods, listening to the wind rustle the autumn leaves and watching the stream sparkle in the afternoon sunlight. Time and distance passed. And suddenly Pamela Hollingworth knew she was lost. "Every once in a while, when the wind blows through the trees in a certain way, it all comes back," she says today. Pamela, now 30, is a public relations executive in New York for a national retailer (Lane Bryant). Looking back on the ordeal that ended exactly 25 years ago today, she said: "I knew all the time my parents would come for me. But just for a second, I panicked. Clutching a plastic bottle full of water, the child had walked back to where she thought her family was picnicking. But she walked too far; or not far enough. "At one point, I heard my mother calling me. But she couldn't hear me call back."

Eight Days and Nights
The little girl from Dunstable, Mass., would not be heard from again for eight days and eight freezing nights, during which as many as 1,000 persons combed New Hampshire's White Ledge Park for her in a search that captured national attention. "I ran back to the stream and through it up to my waist," Pamela remembered. "then I went to sleep." During the night, the temperature dropped into the 20s and when Pamela awakened, her feet were frozen and her legs frostbitten. She was unable to walk. She could only crawl. "I began to lose track of time and my sense of direction. I had wandered off and I couldn't find the brook again, so I went without water for three days. Then it rained, so I drank out of a puddle." When she did find the stream again, Pamela hadn't eaten for three days. She began to have hallucinations. "Across the stream, in the distance, I saw a big, black limousine with a lady dressed in black sitting in a black wheel chair and a chauffeur in black livery. "I kept saying, 'I won't hurt you, but I'm lost,' but they didn't come to help, and finally, they drove away and I was alone again." From that point on, Pamela stayed by the stream. She drank from it, but there was nothing to eat.

Dreamed of Eating
"When I went to sleep or passed out, I would dream about our dining room," she said. "When I was just about to dig into a meal, I would wake up." And so it went, for eight days and nights. Until the footsteps came. "I heard somebody nearby and I called out something like, 'Woo, Woo.' And the men came running through the stream toward me. My first thought was that their mothers would be mad at them for getting their feet wet. "They asked me my name and my father's name and where I lived. They were testing my sanity, but I thought they were checking to see if I was the right one. I thought if I wasn't, they'd leave me." Pamela said she learned later that the search for her had been abandoned as a lost cause and the men who found her were search party stragglers on their way home.

It's Not Superman
ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Its a pile of concrete, it's an airplane wing, it's a saddle for a giant cowboy. No — it's a hyperbolic parabolid, known to its student designers as Hy-par. Hy-par was conceived, designed and constructed by 14 architecture students and their instructor, Donald P. Greenberg, at Cornell University here. Architecturally speaking, Hy-par is a building but it has no walls. Its only visible supports are three-foot-long legs at each side of the structure, which includes 12 tons of concrete that curve down on the sides and extend in as sweep to tips at the front and rear. Hy-par is 30-feet-long from tip to tip and varies in height from 8 to 15 feet. Greenberg explained that Hy-par is an example of a structure that gains support-strength from its geometric design. He also said that it provokes many comments from passers-by on the Cornell campus. The entire project cost the class $950 for which Greenberg said, "we learned an incredible amount."

Roosevelt Issues Comparison of Two Gov. Rivals

BUFAALO, N.Y. (AP)—His Democratic opponent stands on "crutches" provided by prominent Democrats, the Liberal party's nominee for governor says, while Republican Gov. Rockefeller "stands on his own two feet."

Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. made that comparison of his two major rivals Thursday night toward the end of a day-long campaign swing through Niagara Falls, Buffalo and its suburbs.

His schedule called for appearance on Long Island today. Speaking before 150 persons at a downtown Buffalo hotel, the son of the late Democratic President pictures himself as "an independent Democrat running on the Liberal party line."

He listed President Johnson, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy as among the "crutches" O'Connor is using for support. In contrast to this and Rockefeller's "money" Roosevelt said, "we stand on our own two feet and the goodwill of the people."

"I am the alternative to the broken promises of a Gov. Rockefeller and I am the alternative to the same old New York City boss-dominated ways of the Democratic party. Democratic and Republican voters are flocking to us in droves."

At Niagara Falls, Roosevelt indicated he expected to garner two million votes on Election

Day—enough to win the governorship. He estimated his support now at half that number and said he started the campaign with between 300,000 and 400,000.

The liberal candidate ruled out Paul L. Adams, the Conservative party's candidate, as a factor in the election, saying it was "a three-corner race."

He termed as ridiculous Adam's charge that he was in the race to help Rockefeller, but said he did not blame the Conservative for trying to get headlines because "very few people" would vote for him.

Roosevelt, accompanied by his wife, spoke at a union hall and made handshaking tours of downtown Buffalo.

Rocky Issues Request Ask Congressmen Halt House Cuts On N.Y. Medicaid

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has called on New York State Congressmen to halt proposals in the House that would slice federal financing of the state's controversial medical-aid program.

The Republican governor's ire was only one of several raised Thursday after the House Ways and Means Committee approved a measure that would limit federal monies for state health programs—up to $50 million.

"I vigorously oppose any such retreat," Rockefeller said in a telegram to Rep. Emanuel Celler, chairman of the powerful House committee.

In addition, the proposed Congressional measure would eliminate from eligibility those adults between 21 and 64-years-old who are not welfare cases and who are not blind or otherwise disabled.

The proposed bill, however, would not affect the $217 million in aid that New York State expects to help finance the program in the current fiscal year.

Any changes in the existing state program would not take effect until April 1, 1967.

The hitch would develop, however, in the 1967 session of the Legislature, which would have to decide whether to pare the extent of current coverage to assume full financial responsibility for the program.

Elsewhere, the House action drew these comments:

In New York City, State Welfare Commissioner George Wyman described the potential effects of the measure as "very unfortunate from a welfare standpoint."

In Niagara Falls, Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Bridgeford told The Associated Press that the bill was not "nearly as bad as it might have been."

The proposed legislation would not alter Medicaid, the federal program of aid under Social Security for those 65 and over.

that because of the "red tape" involved in forms to be filed by applicants for exemptions, many taxpayers within the age limit and income bracket probably would be eliminated, and indications at present are that the percentage of applicants in the school district would be small.

Officials in townships of the county presently are considering the 50 per cent exemption on town taxes, and the matter also is before the County Board of Supervisors.

The board president told the district trustees that problems of physical facilities to house pupils in the Zena and Town of Esopus areas on an elementary level, face the board and additional school buildings will be needed to eliminate the existing overcrowded conditions.

The necessity for submitting a proposal to the taxpayers at this time at a special referendum to increase the bonded indebtedness of the district, was emphasized during the discussion last night.

It also was emphasized that a defeat of the proposal at referendum would not eliminate future building plans by the board, because in two years it is expected the bonded indebtedness would be reduced sufficiently to proceed with construction of new schools in the Zena and Town of Esopus areas where the enrollment presently is reported to be "beyond capacity" of the present school buildings.

Supt. of Schools W. Wendell Hoover was authorized to prepare proposals for the special referendum with the school district attorney in an effort to obtain approval of the taxpayers for the bonded indebtedness increase now, rather than wait two years to provide additional facilities for the district.

Louis A. Salzman, an associate superintendent, reported the first edition of the News Letter, which will be published during American Education Week early in November.

Robert J. Markes, associate superintendent for curriculum and instruction, reported that it is expected that about 5,000 copies of the News Letter will be published in the first issue, and that it is hoped by the end of 1966 approximately 10,000 copies will be published.

Land Markes, Salzman, Dr. Hoover complimented Markes and Salzman for their efforts in work on the News Letter.

Assist. Supt. Markes informed the board that the first meeting of the Human Growth Committee was held recently, and considerable interest was shown by those in attendance including a few parents and clergymen.

Board members were informed that a follow-up meeting is scheduled at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Oct. 25, to discuss further proposals for a Kingston School Library as recently proposed in a report of the Citizens Survey Committee of Ulster County Inc.

Dr. Hoover and board members plan to attend the New York State School Boards Association Convention in Syracuse, Oct. 22-25.

World News In Brief

Attracting Subs

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Sweden's current naval maneuvers, utilizing her most modern sea weapons, are attracting more than the usual amount of interest from foreign submarines.

Thursday night a sub-hunting Swedish helicopter reported another in a series of contacts with suspected submerged submarines off the west coast. The suspected sub was within the three-mile territorial limit and headed west, like the others, the navy said.

The helicopter shadowed it out of Swedish waters. Wednesday night a helicopter dropped a depth charge close to another reported intruder to scare it off. Another sub was detected earlier Wednesday and two were reported Sunday.

Red Volcano Erupts

MOSCOW (AP) — The tallest active volcano on the continents of Europe and Asia, 15,912-foot Mt. Klyuchevskaya, began erupting again Thursday night, Moscow radio reported.

The volcano is on the Kamchatka Peninsula, in the Soviet Union south of the Bering Straits. It erupts frequently.

Cancer Transplant Survivor Enjoys Granted Wishes

CENTREVILLE, Mich. (AP) — Larry Rink's three wishes have come true. Rink is the 21-year-old cancer amputee who now has no evidence of the disease remaining in his body.

He learned last July, after cancerous tissue from other persons was transplanted to him, that tests showed no traces of his cancer remaining.

He said then, "Now I'll get my new leg and then I hope I can find a good job and take care of my wife and baby."

Within days, Rink was fitted with an artificial leg. His right leg was amputated more than a year ago because of bone cancer.

Three weeks ago he began his first job in more than a year — as a stock clerk at H. G. Wells & Co., a tool firm in nearby Three Rivers.

And on Sept. 24, Rink's wife, Jeanne, 20, gave birth to their first child, Tina Ann.

Dr. Ray Houghton, the family physician who first advised Rink to undergo the experimental cancer transplants, delivered Tina.

Will Halt Polluting

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Bethlehem Steel Corp. agrees to stop polluting two tributaries of Lake Erie, near the firm's mill at Lackawanna, south of Buffalo.

The company waived a water-pollution hearing Thursday and agreed to a stipulation order of the State Health Department.

The state agency has charged that industrial wastes from the mill have polluted Smoke's Creek and South Ditch.

The order calls for the firm to build a treatment system for operation by Jan. 1, 1970.

the men. An exchange of shots by troopers ended when the station wagon crashed into a fence near the old Grange Hall on Route 209.

Rifle, Revolver in Car
The pair leaped from the vehicle and fled into the nearby woods. It was reported that search of the damaged vehicle disclosed a rifle and revolver which authorities said had been used in the shooting incident.

Roadblocks had been set up throughout the area, along the county lines of Sullivan, Ulster, Dutchess, Greene and other areas. Details were assigned to guard the bridges that span the Hudson River.

About two hours later, Brown was apprehended at a roadblock near Wiedy's. He was driving a car he allegedly had stolen in Kerhonkson owned by a family named Cross.

Troopers from all substations in the Mid-Hudson area were assigned to the manhunt, which centered in the Accord and Kerhonkson area. Heavily armed troopers combed the woods as others checked all vehicles passing along highways as the search for Davis was pressed.

Trooper Rejoins Search
Kowalik was later taken to Ellenville Community Hospital where a flesh wound of his arm was treated. He was released and immediately returned to the area to join the search party.

Area residents were advised to use caution in the event they should come upon Davis, who is white, five feet, four inches tall and weighs 125 pounds. When last seen he was wearing a white shirt and dark pants. He has brown hair, brown eyes and speaks with a southern accent.

Early this afternoon a report from the command post in the search area indicated that Davis probably is "holed up" somewhere in the rugged mountain section in the vicinity of Mettuchonts. A four square mile area is being searched by troopers who were checking a countless number of summer bungalows.

Hint Link to Bank
According to one source, it was noted that the two men were wanted for questioning in connection with bank robberies in the midwest.

Sheriff Martin, County Investigator Thomas Mayone, Warden Carl Cline and several deputies sped to the Town of Waverling in four cars to take part in the investigation and search for the men. Deputy Sheriff Alfred Rose was dispatched to the area with the sheriff's bloodhounds.

According to a telegram received at the sheriff's office from Seattle, Wash., police, the two men are believed to be the pair wanted in Seattle for armed robbery and for theft of an automobile. The telegram cautioned that the men were believed armed with a 9mm pistol and possibly other weapons, and both were considered dangerous.

'Won't Be Taken' Boast
The message also said that the pair wanted in Seattle had boasted they "would not be taken alive."

Eye Witness Report:
Willard Smith one of the owners of Smith Brothers Garage in Nanuet, where Trooper Kowalik first approached the two men, shortly after 9:30 p. m. yesterday, was one of the first eye-witnesses to the initial shooting.

Smith told The Freeman that he was in the office of his garage with four others when a car pulled up front. "One man got out the passenger side of the station wagon," Smith said. "He came inside and asked for two bottles of soda. Then we saw the trooper's car pull up alongside the other vehicle. The trooper got out and talked with the man at the steering wheel."

"We were watching through the window that extends along the front of the building," Smith said. "The man in the garage bought the bottles of soda then he asked how much deposit on the bottles. I said four cents and he paid it. Then he went outside. As he got in the station wagon he appeared to reach around to the back seat. Suddenly flashes lit up the car. We heard shots. The trooper slumped back and the car sped off."

Smith said Trooper Kowalik jumped in his car although wounded in the arm, apparently from the first shot fired at him within a distance of about five feet. Smith told a reporter that the trooper gave chase.

Fired Through Window
According to Smith, the man in the car fired a first shot directly at Trooper Kowalik through the closed window of the vehicle. Several more shots followed. Smith said he believes the trooper shot five times at the station wagon and its occupants before he started in pursuit.

"After the shooting in front of my place," Smith said, "I went outside and picked up a driver's license issued in Texas, which the operator of the station wagon apparently had handed the trooper, who dropped it when he was hit by a bullet. There are bullet holes all over the place here. One bullet creased the side of the car parked outside owned by Briggs Coppage Jr. A bullet hit my wrecker and another hit a truck," he concluded.

Dengler Resting

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Navy Lt. (j.g.) Dieter Dengler, the pilot who escaped from a Communist prison camp in Laos last July, was on convalescent leave today after completing extensive medical treatment.

A Navy spokesman in San Diego said "Dengler will spend most of his time just relaxing from the hectic pace he has been exposed to since his return to the San Diego area."

The leave ends Oct. 31. He is expected to return to full active duty then, probably in the Alameda, Calif., area, the spokesman said.

Denies Ambitions

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey says she is happy where she is as wife of the vice president. Her ambitions don't include becoming America's First Lady.

"I don't want her (Mrs. Lyndon Johnson's) position," Mrs. Humphrey told a gathering in Atlanta, Ga., Thursday. "I'm happy where I am."

Mrs. Humphrey talked to newsmen and dignitaries at the Southeastern fair where she crowned the 1966 homemaker queen.

Marital Troubles?
DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) — The wife of Dr. Sam Sheppard has brushed off rumors that the couple's marriage is in trouble.

"That's all pure invention," said German-born Ariane Sheppard in Duesseeldorf, Germany Thursday. "We have just bought a new house, which we certainly would not have done if we were thinking about anything like a divorce."

Mrs. Sheppard, the former Ariane Tebbenhans, is in Germany "to take care of some personal and financial matters."

The couple was married after they struck up a friendship by correspondence while Sheppard was in prison, convicted of murdering his first wife. He was freed after winning an appeal. A new trial is scheduled to begin this month.

House Approves Education Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both the House and Senate have passed bills which would pour additional billions of dollars into the nation's schools. The House version contains a prohibition against any federal requirement for busing school children to overcome racial imbalance.

The House cleared its $5.7-billion measure by a 237-97 vote Thursday night. A few hours after the Senate had passed 54 to 16 its $6.4-billion bill to finance the elementary and high school aid program in the next two years.

The House adopted two amendments aimed at the desegregation efforts of the Office of Education. The Senate version did not contain such language.

Housewives Boycott Planned as Protest

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Housewives for Lower Food Prices, a group of Denver-area women irked by what they believe are inordinately high food costs, say they plan to boycott five major chain stores beginning Oct. 17.

The chains are Safeway, Miller's, King Sooper's, Red Owl and Furr's.

"We have gotten the word out to several thousand women in the metropolitan area alone," Mrs. Jay S. Threlkeld, a spokeswoman for the group, said Thursday.

The group has met five times and about 90 women attended each meeting along with representatives of the stores under fire.

"We're going to shop at independent and neighborhood groceries until we convince the chains we mean business. We don't like to feel we're being taken to the cleaners and we're tired of hearing about some rich, invisible middle man who's causing prices to go up," Mrs. Threlkeld said.

"We're in favor of lower prices, too," said McLeod Division, vice president and district manager of Miller's. "If there's a cost increase at the production level, then we have to pass it along to the consumer."

Installers Reject Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 22,000 Western Electric installers have turned down a proposed new labor contract negotiated by the company and the AFL-CIO Communications Workers of America, a union spokesman said today.

Exact figures on the ratification vote counted here Thursday night were not expected until later today, the spokesman said.

Backs Rhodesia Policy

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — The British government won a decisive vote of confidence for its Rhodesia policy from the Labor party convention today. The count was 4,368,000 to 1,801,000.

Delegates to the convention vote proxies for the entire membership of party branches of labor unions they represent and those delegates from some major unions have votes running into six figures.

Hurricane Shifts, May Spare Land

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Hurricane Inez lashed the northern shore of the Yucatan Peninsula today, but the New Orleans Weather Bureau said there were indications the storm's center had changed course and might miss land as it headed for the Bay of Campeche.

As Inez pelted the coastline with torrential rain, violent wind and high tides, the bureau said reconnaissance planes indicated a change to a west-southwesterly course. It said if the trend continued, the storm would move parallel to the coast for the next 12 to 18 hours, lessening the threat to the peninsula.

It located Inez just off the coast about 160 miles northeast of inland Merida.

With top winds of 110 miles per hour, Inez hurled her fury against the Yucatan Coast after 14 days of battering Caribbean and Bahama islands and the east coast of Florida.

Reports to Mexico City said the hurricane was hitting particularly hard at the northwest corner of Yucatan between the towns of Rio de Lagartos and Progreso.

Johnson Rules Out Supporting Segregationists

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he likes Congress just the way it is and thinks most candidates for reelection will win.

But he says he has no plans to support any Democratic candidate for governor who is a segregationist.

Home front politics loomed large in Johnson's news conference Thursday — with the Nov. 8 election slightly more than a month away — even though the topic of the day was his planned trip to Asia later this month.

The President, in an opening statement, said he will meet in Manila with leaders of Asian countries "that are most directly helping the South Vietnamese to resist aggression and to build a free nation."

With all the talk of far journeys, the first question put to Johnson dealt with politics at home. He was asked how he felt, "as titular head of the Democratic party," about the several "avowed segregationists" who are Democratic candidates for governor in the South.

Johnson responded that it was very evident some of these candidates don't agree with his "policies that deal with equal rights and equal treatment for all of our citizens."

Without naming anyone, Johnson said these particular candidates have not sought his support "and I have no plans to do so" — that is, support them.

Bishop Asks Heresy Charge Be Withdrawn

NEW YORK (AP) — Auxiliary Bishop James A. Pike of California has charged that an Episcopal bishop accusing him of heresy, himself violated "one of the more serious norms of Christian ethics."

In an open letter, Bishop Pike accused the Rt. Rev. Henry I. Lottuit, bishop of South Florida, of unethical behavior and asked that he withdraw his heresy charges "with or without apology."

Bishop Lottuit called on the controversial churchman last month to renounce the Episcopal ministry or stand trial before a church court. He charged Bishop Pike with violating ordination vows and committing heretical acts.

Bishop Pike — repeatedly accused by some critics of heresy but never formally charged with it under church law until Bishop Lottuit launched his case — made his reply in a letter sent to Bishop Lottuit and members of the American Episcopal Synod.

The California bishop called Bishop Lottuit's charge that he loves publicity, "judgmentalism" and "a violation of one of the more serious norms of Christian ethics."

Bishop Pike also contended that under canon law "there is no provision for a renunciation of the ministry by bishops."

The charges were the first brought against Bishop Pike by a fellow bishop.

The churchman resigned as bishop of California last May to take a post at the Center for Study of Democratic Institutions at Santa Barbara, Calif. He retains the title of auxiliary bishop.

Returns Empty Handed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk apparently is returning empty handed to Washington after trying in three days of talks with Communist and neutralist diplomats to get hopeful signs of peace talks on Viet Nam.

If the Communist or non-aligned nations have had any hint from North Viet Nam that it is prepared to ease its conditions for negotiations, there is no sign that they passed the information on to Rusk.

It became clear that the Americans were making little headway after the secretary of state talked Thursday with Foreign Ministers Vaclav David of Czechoslovakia and Janos Peto of Hungary.

Navy Planes Collide

SAN CLEMENTE ISLAND, Calif. (AP) — Two Navy aircraft collided Thursday night near San Clemente Island, and the Navy is searching for three missing crewmen, a spokesman said.

The planes, an A3 Sky Warrior and an RASC Vigilante, were flying a routine mission from the aircraft carrier Enterprise when they crashed together over the ocean about 35 miles south of here.

Lunar Orbiter
To Snap Moon's
Smoother Areas

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — Its pock-marked profile already photographed extensively by Lunar Orbiter 1, the moon will soon have a chance to show off its creamy side.

Scientists said Thursday Lunar Orbiter 2 would be launched between Nov. 6 and Nov. 11 to take pictures of the moon's smoother areas.

Dr. Lawrence Rowan of the U.S. Geological Survey said each of nine possible landing sites for America's Apollo astronauts, photographed by Lunar Orbiter 1, hold "some promise."

However, the first mission did not transmit enough information to determine an exact landing site.

Thus the announcement of the next Lunar Orbiter mission, made at a news conference at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Langley Research Center.

Results of the pictures transmitted by Lunar Orbiter between Aug. 23 and Aug. 29 — 21 frames — were disclosed at the conference.

Lunar Orbiter scanned 2 million square miles of the moon's surface, including 16,000 square miles in the nine landing sites of primary interest.

The moon also disclosed some other surprises — mainly it trembles and shakes just like mother earth. Volcano activity also was noted.

Rowan said the photographs disclosed evidence of dynamic processes on the moon, including faults or slippages on the surface.

President Calls For Gradual Cut
Of Europe Units

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson, announcing a broad new program to improve East-West relations, called today for a "gradual and balanced" reduction of armed forces in central Europe.

In a major speech on European policy, Johnson announced that the United States is cutting trade restraints on "hundreds of non-strategic items" which this country may now export to Eastern European nations.

This was one of seven new steps, as the President described them, designed to strengthen ties between Communist Eastern Europe, the United States and other Western nations.

Johnson, in his text prepared for delivery at the National Conference of Editorial Writers, strongly re-emphasized U.S. policy to keep the Western alliance — NATO — "strong and abreast of the times."

He also reconfirmed U.S. support for European unity, declaring "a united Western Europe can be our equal partner in helping to build a peaceful and just world order."

Mass. Youth Gets 5 Years, Burned Card

BOSTON (AP) — David Benson, 18, of Cambridge, Mass., has been sentenced to five years in prison for destroying his draft card.

Federal Judge Anthony Julian said Thursday Benson must undergo psychiatric tests. He said the sentence will be reviewed by the court after the study.

Benson told the court he is a pacifist and that the Selective Service System "perpetuates violence."

Benson was convicted by a jury Sept. 22 of burning his draft card and of destroying his draft classification notice at pacifist demonstrations in March.

Foreign Aid Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress may give President Johnson more budget-cutting cooperation today than he requested — in the field of foreign aid.

Ready for House approval, and perhaps final Senate action later in the day, was a compromise bill to appropriate $2.94 billion to finance the foreign aid program for the current fiscal year.

The figure, some $443 million less than the President requested, is the lowest financing for the program in nine years, Administrator William S. Gaud said the total "is pretty hard to swallow."

In a statement issued through a spokesman, Gaud added: "With aid requirements of the developing countries being what they are, it is hard to see how we can do the job ahead with a cut of 13 per cent in a tight budget request."

Wants Medicaid Repeal

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul L. Adams, Conservative party candidate for governor, urged Thursday that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller call a special session of the legislature to repeal the state's new medical aid law.

Adams said the law — which critics say is too costly to the state — should be rewritten by next year's legislature.

WJT Papers Offer 19 Features and Columns for Bids

NEW YORK (AP)—The World Journal Tribune, in an effort to remove an antitrust suit filed against it, has offered daily newspapers in the New York City area a chance to bid for 19 columns and features now appearing in the merged newspaper.

The offer, filed Thursday in federal court, was in answer to a government charge that the syndicated material acquired by the month-old paper from the defunct Herald Tribune could restrict competition among the city's afternoon papers.

The competing New York Post has sought some of the columns opened to bidding by the World Journal Tribune.

The antitrust action is expected to be withdrawn by the government if the court approves the merged paper's plan for consent judgment.

Up for bidding would be columns by Walter Lippman, Joseph Alsop, Rowland Evans and Robert Novak, David Lawrence, Roscoe Drummond, Frances Kollman, Horace Sutton, Arlene Dahl, Ralph Magill, Barry Goldwater, Ann Landers and Alice Fleming.

Cartoons by John Fischetti and Dan Dowling, and the comic "wizzard of id," Penney, "apartment 3-g" and "miss peach," would be included.

Under the proposed judgment the World Journal Tribune would be free to compete for new contracts for the features.

The afternoon and Sunday newspaper, which began publication Sept. 12, was born of the merger of the Herald Tribune, Journal-American and The Sun.

The body was not recovered.

NEW YORK (AP)—More women are working today than ever before—more even than in 1944, when Rosie the riveter produced whistles, staves and airplanes.

Trend Pronounced

The percentage of women who work has been moving up gradually, from 31 per cent of working age women in 1947 to more than 38 per cent now. The trend lately has been pronounced.

In the past year more women than men were added to the civilian work force, a total of 878,000 compared to a total of 559,000 for men aged 20 or more.

This is what it reflects:—A change in the nature of many jobs from factory to office, from blue collar to white. Perhaps it would be better to call her Miss Jones now rather than Rosie.

—The scarcity of employable men, which has forced industry to look more aggressively for women workers.

—The philosophy and laws of equal opportunity, which bar discrimination because of race, religion or sex.

—More education for women.

Accept $1,176,988 Bids, for Highland Boys School Work

Bids were accepted totaling more than $1 million for construction, heating, sanitary and electric work at the Highland School for Boys, according to a report released by the State Department of Public Works Thursday.

The total amount, $1,176,988, went for work on Boys Cottages Buildings 39-44, inclusive. The major part of the contract went for construction. A low bid of $846,277 was received from the R. P. McTeague Construction Company of New York City.

The heating work will cost $129,800 from a low bid by the Mechanical Construction Corp. of Poughkeepsie. Sanitary work will be done by Snyder Plumbing and Heating Corporation of New York City at a cost of $111,822. The David Jacobs Inc. Construction Company has the contract on the electric work for $99,089.

The bids were opened by J. Burch McMoran, superintendent of the State Department of Public Works, at the department offices in Albany.

The library director explained the use of the card catalog, reference services, films records, periodicals, and the method used in acquiring popular fiction and non-fiction titles. Many of the teachers pointed out to their students the reference material that should be used in carrying out assignments.

The first fall meeting of the John Borroughs Natural History Society was held Wednesday evening in the meeting room on the second floor of the Children's Library.

Five hundred fiction and non-fiction books were selected for long term loan from the Mid-Hudson Headquarters Collection at Poughkeepsie. Several book displays and framed prints were also chosen. The prints will be available for general circulation to the public within the next two or three weeks.

The cakewalk is a dance of American Negro origin. The couples form a square with the men on the inside and, stepping high to a lively tune, walk in this square formation. Couples are eliminated one by one by judges until the last one. The winning couple, in slavery days, was presented with a highly decorated cake as first prize.

Marine Lance Corporal Timothy I. Murphy, the son of Mrs. Anna Murphy of Box 2, Lake Katrine, is home on 30 days leave after completing his one-year's tour of duty in Viet Nam.

Cpl. Murphy, a 1964 graduate of Kingston High School, joined the Marine Corps in July of that year. While in Viet Nam he was assigned to a 105 Howitzer crew, as a gunner with the First Marine Division.

'Countrified' City

Vientiane, capital of Laos, looks more like a country town than a national capital city. Ox-carts creak along its streets, water buffaloes wallow in pools fringing gardens and rice fields, and the largest buildings, except for a few government offices, are Buddhist temples.

Doing The Right Thing

HEIRLOOM DIAMOND
LOVELY BUT NOT WITH WEDDING RING

The following letter from Mrs. John Hayes of Pittsburgh, Pa., has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of "Emily Post's Etiquette" has been sent to her.

Dear Mrs. Post: I wear a wide, gold wedding ring on my left hand. I was never officially engaged, but I do wear a diamond ring which belonged to my grandmother, on my right hand. Before I was married, it was suggested that I have the diamond reset and wear it as my engagement ring, but I particularly like this setting and do not want to change it. I wonder if wearing the two rings together would be correct, or if wearing the diamond on my right hand is incorrect?

Dear Mrs. Hayes: Traditionally, the only rings worn on the third finger of your left hand are those given you by your fiancé or husband. The exception is a guard ring, usually a narrow band of tiny stones or "chips" which is worn outside the more valuable engagement ring as protection, and which is often inherited or given to a bride by a parent or grandparent.

Since your diamond ring is a family heirloom, not given to you by your husband, you are quite correct in wearing it as you do, on your right hand. If you like it as it is, do not have it reset. Some day your husband may be able to give you another ring, which may then be worn on the same finger as your wedding ring.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it correct to draw a line through the engraved name on a card, or informal, and sign it with one's given name?—Sharon.

Dear Sharon: The note, or message, should be signed with your given name, but it is not necessary to cross out the engraved name. Many people do this, I know, but I think it ruins the appearance of the card.

"Etiquette Tips for Teenagers" by Elizabeth L. Post is now available to readers of this paper. This brand-new, 16-page booklet will answer many questions for teenagers and their parents. To get your copy, send a quarter to cover booklet and shipping expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman.

Vietnamese Project Discussed by Doctor; Dietetic Group

The Mid-Hudson Dietetic Association held its meeting last night at the Castle Point Veterans Hospital. Dr. Emilio Ejercito, Chief Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Service and Chief of the Spinal Cord Injury Service, spoke on the Vietnamese project.

According to Dr. Ejercito, 56 paraplegics arrived in the first group. Of these, 25 had pressure sores. Most of them showed a low serum protein and a majority had intestinal parasites of one sort or another. Most of them appeared chronically ill and were apathetic. Their average weight was 80 pounds. In the beginning multiple high calorie feedings were prescribed which was changed to regular diets as their nutritional status improved. In order to help these men to adjust, two staples of the Vietnamese diets have been offered to them from the day of their arrival, rice and a fish sauce called Nuoc Nam which is purchased from an oriental importer in New York. American foods such as milk, meat and vegetable have been offered also. Now 32 of them eat in the cafeteria regularly and select from the hospital menu.

Along with the Vietnamese paraplegics, 14 Vietnamese medical personnel came to be trained in the techniques of rehabilitation. They will return to Viet Nam to establish a rehabilitation center there. Dr. Ejercito also showed slides demonstrating the methods and equipment used for physical rehabilitation.

A short business meeting followed at which Mrs. Morton Brett presided. The hostess was Miss Grace Padgham, Chief Dietitian at Castle Point Hospital.

Freshmen Parents Night May Mean Start Of Annual Event at UCCC Says Dean

A Freshman Parent Night proved so successful last Friday that Ulster County Community College plans to make it an annual event, Dean of Students Donald Crout said today.

About 125 persons attended the program, set up by Assistant Dean of Students Richard Carlson. In previous years the college conducted a reception for the parents of the students.

Purpose of the Parent Night Program, Dean Crout said, is to acquaint parents with college life and to point out problems frequently encountered by beginning students. In addition, parents are given an opportunity to learn what is essential for a successful college experience.

Speaking to the parents were Dr. Dale B. Lake, college president, Dean Crout and Assistant Dean Carlson.

Dr. Lake, introducing division chairmen, told of the "missionary zeal" the faculty and staff have demonstrated. He said UCCC is one of 850 two-year colleges in the land, with 50 new ones opening each year, and 1,000 expected by 1970 and 1,250 by 1975.

Dr. Lake said there are 700 full-time students at the college this year, attending classes in a building designed for 500.

"We're interested in your young people," he told the parents, "and we're trying to do all for them that we can."

The president said there will be a new day dawning for the college when the permanent campus, now under construction at Stone Ridge, is completed.

He invited the parents to visit and tour this campus "so you can see what the college will look like."

The Stone Ridge campus will have only four buildings when it is opened next year. Dr. Lake added, however, that "until we get additional buildings we'll have something like the overcrowding we have now." He noted the need to have facilities to handle 1,000 full-time students by 1970 and 1,500 by 1974.

Dean Crout told of the large number of UCCC students who have transferred to four year colleges and universities.

"These students have done a good job of getting transfer for credit," he said, "and in many cases have obtained 100 per cent credit."

He also spoke of plans to set up a placement service for college graduates and described co-curricular activities offered by the college.

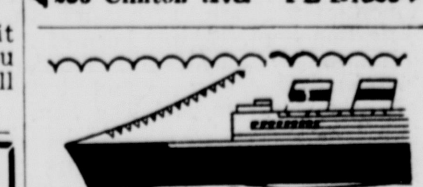

Assistant Dean Carlson described counseling and guidance work he does and explained the freshman orientation program being conducted.

Carlson also told of work to develop a testing program.

"We're dealing with the most precious commodity America has today," he said, "That's brain power."

India Subject at College Festival to Be Held Oct. 16-23

Modern India in all aspects—current affairs, art, music, philosophy and dance—will be the subject of New Paltz State College's first "Indian Festival" for Mid-Hudson residents and college students Oct. 16 through 23.

Fifteen activities at the college, featuring appearances by outstanding Indian scholars and artists, will concentrate attention on the culture of the subcontinent and its 472 million people, college officials said.

All events will be open to the public.

This year's program, according to College President William J. Haggerty, is the first of what is hoped to be a series of festivals at the college, each dealing with a particular country or region. He said perhaps one or two such festivals will be held each year.

Among the events scheduled are a dance recital by Maya Kulkarni, a famed Indian dancer on Sunday, Oct. 16; a lecture Oct. 20 by Dr. Amiya Chakravarty, professor emeritus of Comparative Oriental Religions and Literature at Boston University; and two public performances by Ustad Ali Akbar Khan and Company. The performances include a lecture demonstration concert Oct. 20 and a concert the following day.

College students and faculty members will also hear Dr. George V. Allen, former U. S. ambassador to India, now director of the Foreign Service Institute of the State Department.

discuss Indo-American relations. Exhibitions during the week will feature arts and crafts of India at the College Art Gallery, photographs of India at the College Union Building and books and periodicals relating to India at the College Library.

Stone Houses Open Doors For Accord Tour Saturday

Saturday marks the 10th annual stone house day sponsored by the Rochester Reformed Church of Accord. Seven area houses will be open to guests for the occasion.

Tours will start from the church, Route 209, Accord, from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. Ladies of the church will serve luncheon from 11 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. at the church.

Among the houses to be included on the tour are homes of John L. Schoonmaker Jr., Denes Kiss, Mrs. Howard Sykes, Mrs. Edward Davenport, Emil Hozza.

One mile east of Accord is the home of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Schoonmaker, Jr. and their three children, Daniel, David and Diane, who are the sixth generation to live in the home. This home is more than an old stone house, it might be classed as a mansion of former days.

The walls are of stone, with corners and front faced with brick, surrounded by giant trees and spreading lawns. It is one of the finest old places in the Town of Rochester. It was built in 1787, as a date stone in the wall attests. The builder is thought to have been John D. Schoonmaker, the great, great grandfather of the present owner.

The farm belonging to the estate is one of the large sweet corn and vegetable farms in the valley. Also, young Holstein heifers are raised which later are the milk producers for the dairy farm, owned by John Jr., at New Paltz.

The house, with every inch in use, consists of four stories from cellar to attic. The cellar at one time served as a store, selling vegetables to those who travelled the Delaware and Hudson Canal which lies 50 yards behind the house.

This beautiful stone house of Mrs. Edward Davenport which has been in the Davenport family for 100 years, was built in the early 1700's of stone laid up with mud and horsehair. Interesting features of the house are the original Dutch doors, hardware and beams, and native cut Shawangunk millstone door sills. There are many good antique furnishings including chairs, a lamp, various family pieces, and a handmade bedspread.

Visitors may explore nearby the old canal bed of the Delaware and Hudson "Canal," which operated from 1828 to 1902.

YMCA News

School Girls Night

As a part of its ever expanding program, the YMCA today announced a Wednesday night program for high school girls of the Ulster County area. Every Wednesday night from 7 to 8 p. m., girls in this age group will be able to make use of the YMCA swimming pool. From 8 to 9 p. m. girls may make use of the sauna bath, hairdryers and other conveniences found in the modern lounge and locker room.

As members of the YMCA these girls will also be able to participate in special membership programs such as life saving and scuba diving. Scuba diving classes begin this Wednesday evening at the "Y," and although the fall life saving class has already begun, others will be offered in the winter and spring.

The addition of this program makes complete the services and programs offered by the YMCA to all members of the family. An agency of the Ulster County Community Chest, the YMCA's program for girls 8-13 now has over 150 members and the Ladies Health club membership is rapidly approaching the 100 mark.

Sedita Scores Budget Increase In Highland Talk

Buffalo Mayor Frank A. Sedita, Democratic candidate for attorney general, rapped the budget increase for that state department at a dinner Thursday night in Highland.

Approximately 300 persons attended the event at the Highland American Legion Hall.

Sedita cited the increase of 83 per cent in the budget for the attorney general's office over the past six years, calling it "outrageous in view of the limited, if any, increase in activity or performance of that office."

The attorney general is constitutionally responsible to defend the laws of this state. He has a budget of over seven million dollars and some 200 lawyers on his staff. And what happens when one of the most important cases involving the law of our state went before the courts? The defense of our law was turned over to a private law firm headed by former Governor Dewey at a cost to the taxpayers of more than 63 thousand dollars.

"I refer to the defense of the Plan A reapportionment law, passed by the Legislature in December 1964. The attorney general should have defended this law and our state. But it was turned over to the Dewey law firm. This can mean only one of two things. Either Governor Rockefeller has no faith in the legal abilities and talents of the present attorney general, or this was a political patronage payoff by him to his friend Tom Dewey. I personally feel it was the former," he concluded.

Soviets Order Red Chinese Students Out

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today ordered all students from Red China out of the country.

The government said it was taking the step in retaliation against the ouster of Soviet students from China in September.

All Chinese students are to be out of the Soviet Union before the end of October.

The move brought already strained Soviet-Chinese relations to a new low.

But the government here said it would be ready to resume student exchanges "as soon as the Chinese side displays readiness" to do this.

The Soviet position was laid down in a statement made today at the Ministry of Higher and Special Secondary Education to a representative of the Red Chinese Embassy.

Convict Keller Of Taking $5,000 At Dutchess Store

Convicted by a Dutchess County Court jury of eight men and four women of charges arising from an armed robbery at a Town of Poughkeepsie supermarket on March 28, William R. Keller Jr., 39, of RD 2, Box 295, Kingston, was in jail in Poughkeepsie today awaiting sentence.

Keller was accused of locking 11 employees of the Food Fair Market in Hudson Plaza in a cooler and robbing the cashier's office of some $5,000.

The jury convicted Keller of first degree grand larceny, second degree burglary, possessing a weapon, cutting a telephone wire and 11 counts of assault. The jury deliberated less than five hours before returning the verdict of guilty after eight days of trial.

At the trial Keller, who had been employed as a butcher at the supermarket, testified that he checked out of the store at 9:31 p. m. on March 28—before the holdup—and it took him seven or eight minutes to get his car started. He and his wife left the court and jury that they met at a laundromat in Kingston at 10:20 p. m.

One prosecution witness had identified Keller as the masked man who entered the market and staged the holdup. Another testified he believed the man was the butcher. Assistant District Attorney William J. O'Hare, who prosecuted the case, introduced as evidence a pair of wire cutters taken from Keller's automobile.

Which O'Hare contended showed traces of nylon such as that used in the telephone wire leading from a box to a receiver in the store, which had been cut.

Keller was represented at trial by Anthony Pagnone of Beacon, and Attorney William P. Shea, Bayshore.

Lindsay Apologizes

NEW YORK (AP)—An apology by Mayor John V. Lindsay to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., apparently has ended an angry exchange which at its height had Kennedy criticizing city hall's "good manners and courtesy."

The dispute broke out Thursday in connection with a campaign to support the police department's civilian complaint review board—a panel backed by Kennedy, Republican Mayor Lindsay and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

At its most bitter stage, Lindsay said through a spokesman "Sen. Javits promised he would physically produce Sen. Kennedy" at a New York strategy conference.

The Democratic senator replied: "When and if good manners and courtesy are learned at city hall I would be happy to meet with the mayor."

Note Discoverers Of America Are Becoming Greater

WASHINGTON (AP)—Oh, the good old days when teacher said Christopher Columbus discovered America in 1492 and that was that.

Bad enough, this later complication that perhaps the Vikings arrived half a century or so earlier.

But now, five days away from the 474th anniversary of Columbus' arrival in the New (to him at least) World, the list of his possible challengers reads like an index page in an atlas.

Only Thursday: The chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Glenn T. Seaborg, said it may have been a Japanese who discovered the New World.

Welsh author Richard Deacon claimed the Welsh were first. Seaborg's nomination of the Leif Erikson Foundation, which has its own ideas on who discovered America, Seaborg said recent archaeological investigations on the coast of Ecuador "strongly suggest that the Japanese may have crossed the Pacific and landed in that area around 3000 B.C."

Deacon's claim is that a Welshman named Madoc, son of Owain, king of Gwynedd, founded a colony in America in 1170. After 20 years research, Deacon will publish his ideas in a book next month.

He will touch down in Ulster County at 5 p. m. at the Accord Airport and will tour the Kerhonkson area observing the water supply.

At 5:45 p. m. he will depart for Ellenville and arrive at the Echo Hotel at 6 p. m. where a dinner and reception will be held in his honor at 7:30 p. m. A press conference will be held at 7:15 in the Echo Hotel.

Ask New Indictments

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP)—The Justice Department has called for new indictments against 17 white men accused in the slayings of three civil rights workers at Philadelphia, Miss., in 1964.

U.S. Dist. Judge Harold Cox ruled Thursday the indictments are invalid because the grand jury which charged them was not drawn from lists representative of both sexes and races.

The decision was based on a July 20 ruling by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans that no valid jury can be drawn from a list that is in any way unrepresentative.

The dismissal was requested last week by the Justice Department which said it would seek new indictments from another grand jury.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market showed a flutter of recovery early this afternoon in routine trading.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.67 at 752.8.

This was nothing compared with the heavy losses the market has suffered almost daily throughout the week.

Autos, airlines, electronics and a number of aerospace issues put on a fairly strong performance.

Some of the buying was linked with a published report that sales of 1967 model cars are off to a flying start.

Technical factors accounted for other strength.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 4.4 at 272.0 with industrials up 1.3, rails unchanged and utilities off 5.

Prices moved higher at the opening, then, after a period of hesitation, showed a definite although irregular uptrend. The relatively slow pace of trading, however, detracted from the importance of the rise.

Gains of a point or better were made by such stocks as General Motors, Chrysler, Eastman Airlines, United Airlines, Zenith, General Dynamics and U.S. Smelting.

Speaker Stresses Need for Local Mental Facility

Dr. Hyman Pleasure, deputy commissioner of the New York Mental Hygiene Department, outlined five services needed for complete community Mental Health Centers Thursday night during a talk before Ulster County Association for Mental Health.

Of the five services, Dr. Pleasure noted this county has two, out-patient service and a consulting service. The others include a day hospital for the mentally ill, 24-hour emergency service and in-patient hospital service.

The speaker stressed that as populations increase, Americans must realize a responsibility for the mentally ill. He declared it is far better to have a strong local program than to send patients of hospitals in other locations.

Among invited guests at the session, held in Governor Clinton Hotel, were Supervisors Gerard DeFelix, Rosendale; Irving Bell, Sixty Ward and John Luciani, Fifth Ward, all Public Health Committee members; Judge Raymond Mino; Doctors Edward Shea, Elbert McGadden, and the Rev. Dr. David Gause and Joseph Fitzsimmons, members of the Ulster County Health Board; Dr. Emeline Hayward, director of the county mental health center; Dr. Dell Guidice, director of the Middletown State Hospital; and members of the executive committee of the board of directors, Ulster County Association for Mental Health.

Stress Religious Study in Schools

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP)—An interfaith team of scholars today concluded that religion can and should be taught in the public schools — and urged provisions for better textbooks and teacher preparation to do it.

Schools need to clarify their "responsibility for dealing with the total cultural heritage, of which religious values are an integral part," the report, product of an intensive, two-year study, said.

"Knowledge about religion" it declared, "may be considered an important component of an adequate education for citizenship."

A special committee, set up through the National Conference of Christians and Jews, made the study in the schools of Pittsburgh, Pa. Its findings were regarded as having wide implications elsewhere.

Examining the background and present situation in the schools, along with court rulings, educational objectives, teacher attitudes and other aspects, the report said: "Within the present constitutional provisions, courses in Biblical history, the history of religions, comparative religions and the relation of religion to the advancement of civilization and to important concerns in contemporary life may be offered in the public schools."

Teachers Group Endorses Resnick

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Ellenville) from the 28th District, has won the endorsement of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO in his bid for reelection, it was announced today by Vernon L. Outwater, president of the Kingston Teachers Federation, Local 781, of the AFT.

Outwater said this is the first time the American Federation of Teachers has publicly endorsed candidates for Congress. The formal announcement of support of Resnick was released in the October issue of the American Teacher Newspaper released in Chicago for national distribution today.

The endorsement of Resnick by the teachers' union follows earlier endorsement by the New York State AFL-CIO and COPE, the National AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education.

Commenting on the endorsement of Resnick, Outwater said, "Congressman Resnick has had a consistent record of support for far-reaching social legislation of concern to all Americans."

Congressman Resnick will be one of three featured speakers at the fifth annual KTH Fall Conference to be held Oct. 21. Details of the conference program will be released by the KTF early next week, Outwater concluded.

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Two of Israel's pioneer leaders — former Premier David Ben-Gurion and former Foreign Minister Golda Meir — were on the sick list today.

Birthday rallies for Ben-Gurion, who was 80 on Oct. 1, were postponed because he was suffering from a serious cold.

Mrs. Meir, 68, has been hospitalized again for a thorough checkup following recent cardiovascular complications, a medical source said.

Low-Priced Stocks Are Doubtful Bargains

Q) "I'm just a beginner investing in stocks under $10. As I've had some appreciable gains, I'd like to continue for another year. What can you suggest?" —D.P.

A) As I am not in favor of placing hard-earned or carefully saved dollars in low-priced speculations, I can only suggest that you change your investment policy by moving up into the $20-$30 range. There you can more safely trade in higher-quality shares, temporarily depressed, that have shown strong rebound gains whenever a technical rally has appeared.

I am glad for your beginner's luck, but you are operating in high-risk territory. Many of my readers have asked me to name some $3 to $5 stocks for a quick runup. I have consistent; refused to do so, even though it might be possible for an individual close to some such situation to take a nice profit from it.

But for the average investor—especially a beginner—losses are far more prevalent than gains. The proof shows up in my mail. If you buy value rather than price, you will have something worth holding through a temporary market decline. Low-priced stocks which have shown little rebound strength should be sold on general rallies and the proceeds reinvested in higher-grade issues.

Q) "I am a 64-year-old widow living on Social Security and a small income from interest and dividends. I own 50 Continental Baking preferred showing a small loss. Should I switch to a growth stock?" —B.B.

A) Your letter implies you need for maximum income but doesn't state what other issue you hold or your total dividend return. Growth stock yields are usually low so you are suggesting a loss of income by switching.

As a compromise you might consider the turnaround factor in steel equities—discussed recently in the column. Jones & Laughlin and Armco at current levels yield from five to six per cent, dividends are well secured, and capital gains potential is moderately attractive.

Buffer Zone . . .

Fourth in Two Weeks

Casualties among the South Vietnamese troops were officially termed moderate, meaning they were hit hard.

Seven miles north of the demilitarized zone, B52 bombers hammered in a nighttime raid on North Vietnamese storage areas, truck parks and bivouac sites from which the Communists infiltrate South.

It was the fourth B52 strike in just over two weeks against North Viet Nam. All four have been in the same general area of the infiltration starting areas.

Smaller U.S. tactical bombers flew 25 sorties Thursday against North Vietnamese positions inside the six-mile-wide buffer zone a U.S. spokesman reported.

Keep Clear of East

The American raiders concentrated on the central and western areas of the zone, keeping clear of the eastern end where a bombing pause has been in effect for 11 days to allow field teams of the International Control Commission to investigate violations of the zone's neutrality.

Other formations of B52 bombers at dawn today hit a Communist base camp and headquarters area in South Viet Nam 40 miles northwest of Qui Nhon.

This target was 10 to 15 miles north of the American, South Korean and South Vietnamese force which in Operation Irving was tracking down the remnants of a badly battered force of some 3,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

B57 Canberra Downed

U.S. commanders hailed Irving as one of the most successful operations of the year because of the large number of prisoners and the unexpectedly light allied casualties.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

MORE PEOPLE WORKING LONGER HOURS

BABSON PARK, Mass. Oct. 7 —Most people take it for granted that more and more of the regularly employed are enjoying a steadily shorter workweek. They assume this from the fact that the Fair Labor Standards Act has set a 40-hour week for so many millions of the nation's workers. The feeling is that most people prefer leisure time to a higher income from working longer.

Actual Facts a Big Surprise
Studies made by the Labor Department, however, indicate that a significant and growing portion of our working force actually works more than 48 hours a week. Measuring the trend from 1948 to 1965, the total of men and women employed in nonfarm occupations for more than 48 hours a week has nearly doubled.

While these people do not make up a majority of the nation's workers, they are important. In 1948 some 4.8 million nonfarm employees were putting in more than 48 hours a week, and by 1965 this number had jumped to 9.4 million. This was an impressive jump from 12.9% of the entire full-time nonfarm work force to 19.7%.

Comparison With Other Labor Groups
For the same time period, there was a fair increase in the number of full-time nonfarm employees working between 35 and 40 hours mostly the result of the Fair Labor statute. This proportion of the total non-agricultural labor reservoir moved ahead from 4.8% to 8.2%. The gain here was chiefly a result of the slide-off in the number working from 41 to 48 hours a week. Evidently many companies preferred to take on more workers or cut back personnel rather than pay time and a half. The total of those working over 48 hours a week has increased sufficiently, however, since 1948 to offset the statistical changes in the other categories. Surprising result: Average weekly hours for the full-time nonfarm labor force have held at about 45, roughly the same in 1965 as in 1948. This is surely counter to the general impression.

Why This Strong Unexpected Tendency?

Why are between 9 and 10 million people, almost one-fifth of the full-time nonagricultural working force, at their jobs 49 hours or more every week? Why is the number climbing steadily? Who are these employes? Studies suggest that extraordinarily long hours prevail among

On Bomber Drills

Staff Sergeant Frank R. Jones, son of Mrs. Marion S. Jones of 90 Hinsdale Street, is providing vital maintenance support for the Strategic Air Command's (SAC) 15th Combat Competition which tests electronically the same deadly skills SAC combat crews are using to fight Communist aggression in Southeast Asia.

Sgt. Jones is a navigation systems repairman for the B-52 selected to represent the 484th Bomb Wing at Turner AFB, Ga. He attended Kingston High School and is married to the former Carrie P. Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Parker of 1507 Meridel Ave., Tampa, Fla.

employees in the trade and service industries, and in managerial, professional, sales, and private-household fields. In government and manufacturing, there are seldom opportunities for working longer than 48 hours a week, so frequently second or "moonlighting" jobs serve to raise the average of weekly hours worked.

There appear to be a good many, also, who are so interested in their work that they put in long hours consistently. This doubtless accounts for the sizable proportion of professional and technical employees, whose hours often range to 70-a-week and more. Many men and women in especially responsible positions are either required or expected to be on the job most of their waking hours. This would explain the high incidence of particularly long workweeks among managerial employees.

One Feature: Rising Living Standards

There is one classification, mostly married men between 25 and 44, who work all possible extra hours because they need more income. In this category are many in low-pay industries and occupations, especially services and trades, who take more than one job to support a wife and children.

As long as living costs and living standards continue to climb, there is reason to look for further increases in the proportion of our labor force working above-average hours each week. Reducing permissible hours of work for more people is bound to mean more "overtime" and more "moonlighting." So the trend will continue toward longer hours a week for a large part of the work force.

SEEC Organizes, Approves By-Laws

The regular monthly meeting of SEEC was held Tuesday evening at the YWCA. Attending were some new members, as well as some members of the Kingston Lions Club, who became members of SEEC. All were introduced and made welcome.

SEEC initials describes the basic function of the organization, Social, Educational, Economic and Cultural. The Constitution and By-Laws, drafted by Karl Pitcock, was read by him, and after minor corrections and additions, were accepted by all present.

A letter received from William S. Dwyer, legislative chairman of the Empire State Association of the Blind, Inc., was read. It was in regard to the White Cane Laws, as a protection of blind persons in traffic. The law reads as follows: Every driver of a vehicle approaching an intersection or crosswalk shall yield the right of way, slowing down or stopping if need be to so yield, to a pedestrian crossing or attempting to cross the roadway when such pedestrian is guarded by a "seeing-eye" or guide dog or is carrying in a raised or extended position a cane or walking stick which is metallic or white in color or white with a red tip.

No person, unless totally or partially blind or otherwise similarly incapacitated, shall carry on the street or highway in a raised or extended position a cane or walking stick which is metallic or white in color or white with red tip.

A letter was received and read from Mrs. John Kirsch, formerly from Kingston now residing in Albany, extending an invitation to "SEEC" for a joint meeting with the Tri-City Council of The Blind World.

Each month a topic is chosen and informally discussed. The topic for this month was "How I Keep Busy." Each of the blind told what they do to keep busy. Some were housework, raising a family, tanning, playing a uke, a guitar, piano, organ, braiding rugs, finishing antique furniture, baby sitting, and many others.

SEEC is still seeking new members. After the meeting a social hour and refreshments were enjoyed by all at which time Francis Chambers entertained and singing.

The next meeting will be held 8 p. m. Tuesday, Oct. 25 at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue.

Warning Given Government on B26 Revelations

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — An aviation writer and pilot has testified that he once warned Air Force Intelligence officials that the arrest of four men on charges of conspiring to smuggle B26 bombers to Portugal "was going to put the United States in a very embarrassing position."

The witness, Martin Caidin of Cocoa Beach, Fla., related this account Thursday at the U.S. District Court trial of two of the men, Henri de Montmarin, 58, a French businessman, and John R. Hawke 28 a former Royal Air Force pilot now of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Charges Dropped
Charges against the other two arrested later were dropped. A fifth man indicted, Gregory R. Board, 45, of Tucson, Ariz., fled the country and reportedly is in Jamaica West Indies.

Board and his lawyer Edwin Marger of Miami, Fla., have maintained that the flights of seven of the bombers last year had the secret backing of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

Asked by Marger whether he knew of an active role by the CIA in the flights, Caidin replied:

"I was told by Gregory Board it was so, and I know from my own contacts with the CIA that all operations against Communist activities outside the United States must go through the CIA."

Charge Deied
Hawke has maintained that the planes were to be used against rebels in Portugal's

Wants Price Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Congressman from Owego, N.Y., wants the Agriculture Department to investigate complaints of lagging prices paid to dairy farmers of 17 Northeastern milk cooperatives.

Rep. Howard W. Robison, a Republican, made that request Thursday to Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman.

Robison noted that the cooperatives have asked for a hearing on the matter, and commented to Freeman:

"I believe their appeal has a valid basis and urge your favorable consideration."

Even with some increases earlier this year, Robison said, the Northeast dairy farmer is "apparently" having trouble catching up with increased production costs.

The lag in profits, he said, was due in part to a shortage of feed grains because of a five-year-long drought that plagued the Northeast.

African colonies of Angola and Mozambique, a charge U.S. officials have denied.

Caidin said that after delivering his warning to Air Force Intelligence men, he was told "to stop rocking the boat" and that the Air Force had been steered away from the case.

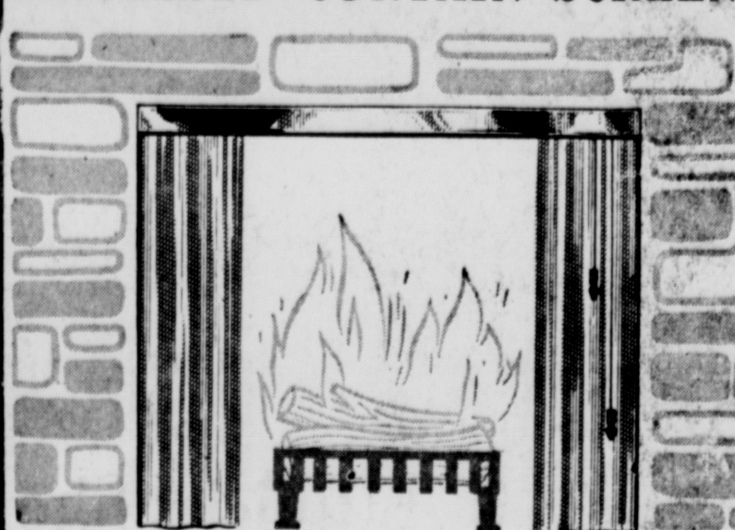

Caidin said he recommended that Hawke fly the bombers overseas after assuming that the flights had received U.S. Government approval. The writer-pilot said he himself planned to make some of the flights.

On one occasion, Caidin said, Hawke flew a B26 in a restricted air corridor over the White House but received no disciplinary action.

"I found it incredible," he added. "I have never known of an incident like this before where a severe violation was not filed against the pilot."

Dodgers Bank On Osteen To Avoid Sweep by Baltimore

30 Hopefuls Report To UCCC Cage Squad

Thirty candidates have reported to Coach Mike Perry to compete for 12 places on the varsity basketball team at Ulster County Community College.

The coach, now in his second year, said the turnout is far better than the 13 who reported last fall.

"I'm elated with the turnout," Coach Perry said, "and I think it is indicative of the fine spirit we have at the college for the team."

Had 13-8 Record

Last year's team turned in an excellent 13-8 record, and Coach Perry is hopeful this year's squad will make a strong showing.

The team's strong points will be lots of speed and pretty good shooting, according to the coach. The chief disadvantage will be a lack of height and experience.

The team is practicing at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium where it will play its home games.

Coach Perry said there will be a 10-member junior varsity which will play in the YMCA and city leagues in addition to playing preliminary games before varsity home games.

The junior varsity coach will be Paul "Boots" Buytkins, of Saugerties, who played the last two years and holds the college scoring record.

Buytkins won an honorable mention in the regional all-star team last season and is selected to transfer to Rider College in January on a baseball and basketball scholarship.

UCCC Harriers Defeat Orange

Barry Hopkins won individual honors with a clocking of 21 minutes, 34 seconds and the Ulster Community College cross country team opened its season with a 24-31 win over Orange Community Thursday at Dietz Stadium.

The Senators, coached by Dick Glazer, captured first, second, fifth, seventh and eighth against the Colts. John Roettger of Ulster trailed teammate Hopkins by 22 seconds, finishing in 21:56.

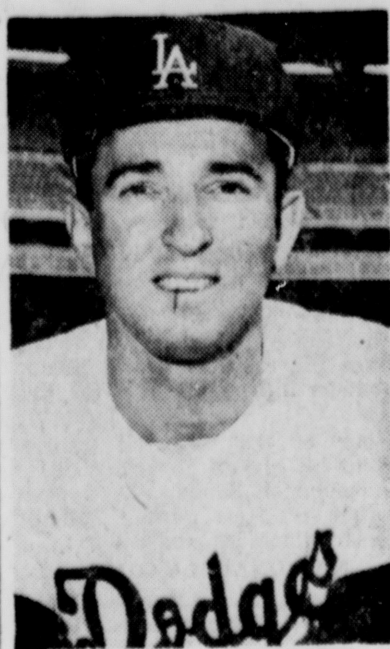

Results: Hopkins, Ulster, 21:34; Roettger, Ulster, 21:56; Mergman, Orange; Fleming, Orange; Fernandez, Orange; Tegeler, Ulster; Sullivan, Ulster; Lindsay, Ulster; Elmendorf, Ulster; Haversberger, Orange; Loper, Ulster; Henderson, Ulster; Johnson, Ulster; Grimes, Orange.

Orioles Now 1-3 Pick To Take World Series

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — If the odds-makers are correct, the Baltimore Orioles will continue their victorious ways and win the World Series from the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Odds-makers quoted Baltimore as a 1 to 3 favorite to win the Series Thursday after the Orioles blanked the Dodgers 6-0.

The odds are almost even for Saturday's third game at Baltimore.

SATURDAY STARTERS—Claude Osteen, left, will try to keep the Los Angeles Dodgers alive in the third game of the World Series Saturday at Baltimore. He will be opposed by Wally Bunker.

New Gogolak Out in Montana

NEW YORK (AP) — There's a potential Gogolak playing for the Montana State football team this season. He's Jan Stenerud, the first small-college kicker ever to rank among the first 10 in scoring.

Stenerud is a soccer-style kicker like the Hungarian-born Gogolak, Pete of the New York Giants and Charlie of the Washington Redskins of the National League.

The Bobcats' star was born in Norway, and statistics compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau showed today that he is in fifth place in scoring with 38 points on 20 of 22 extra point attempts and six field goals.

Charlie Williams of Arkansas AM&N is the scoring leader with 56 points followed by Carl Garrett, New Mexico Highlands, 54.

There's another close race for the lead in total offense with only seven yards separating Don Horn of San Diego State and Bill Lee of California State of Pennsylvania. Horn has gained 759 yards and Lee 752.

Hero Jim Palmer Youngest Ever To Hurl Shutout

By MURRAY CHASS

BALTIMORE (AP) — Max Palmer played only bit parts in Route 66 and Highway Patrol, but his son Jim played the starring role in the Saga of Chavez Ravine.

Palmer, the younger, pitched a four-hitter and became the youngest player ever to record a shutout in World Series play as the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-0 Thursday and took a 2-0 lead before the teams moved to Baltimore.

In completely befuddling the Dodgers, Palmer threw another shock into a capacity crowd at Dodger Stadium in scenic Chavez Ravine.

Palmer, who will be 21 years old Oct. 15, at one time lived in Beverly Hills, which is only about 20 miles west of Chavez Ravine. His father was an actor then, playing small parts in such television productions as Route 66, Highway Patrol, Climax and Playhouse 90.

"Are you kidding me?" exclaimed Palmer, the handsome, 6-foot-3 Baltimore idol, when someone asked if he had any desire to be an actor.

"But I just did a pancake commercial, and if they saw that they'd never look at me."

He eats pancakes for breakfast every time he is scheduled to pitch, a practice Manager Hank Bauer might have his other pitchers adopt since Palmer was the winningest member on the staff with 15 victories this season.

After Lou Johnson's second inning double, the Dodgers got just three harmless singles. And the second inning was the only one in which they put more than one man on base. As soon as they did that, loading the bases, Palmer ended the inning by getting Sandy Koufax on a pop-up.

Palmer, who is in only his second year in the majors and third in professional ball, said: "I had a good fast ball and a good curve." The Oriole explained. "And that's what we're supposed to pitch to them."

Battered Champs Tie Series Mark With Six Errors

By MIKE RATHET

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, who have their backs to the wall because of the sun in their eyes, flew into Baltimore today after what Manager Walt Alton termed the worst two-day World Series performance during his 13-year reign.

And Alton had another 24 hours to think about it on an off-day before the Series resumes Saturday with Claude Osteen scheduled to pitch against Baltimore's Wally Bunker.

Alton, however, didn't have to dig down in his memory to classify the Dodgers' performance in dropping 5-2 and 6-0 decisions to the Orioles while making just seven hits and committing six errors.

"We've been two down before but we didn't look this bad," Alton said. "I never saw us look so bad two days in a row."

If the Dodgers looked bad Wednesday in collecting only one hit off Moe Drabowsky in 6-2-3 innings of relief pitching, they looked worse when the returns were all in on Thursday's game.

Record For Palmer

The Dodgers collected only four hits as Jim Palmer became the youngest pitcher in Series history to post a shutout—and they collected a record-tying six errors.

Willie Davis was the No. 1 culprit, committing errors in such rapid succession during the fifth inning that he not only surpassed the one-inning individual record with three, but also tied the team record for an inning.

"I just lost them in the sun," Davis explained after the game. "There's nothing you can do about a case like that. I got a quick peek at the ball the second time. I made a stab at it but it was no use."

"If I could see the ball, you know I'm gonna catch it."

Paul Blair, the Orioles' center fielder, also said he had difficulty picking up the ball and explained:

"The screen in back of home plate gives off a funny kind of golden glare, and it's hard to pick up the ball. When a fly ball gets in the sun, there's nothing you can do about it but hope it falls in the glove."

The golden glare proved the complete undoing of the Dodgers' golden left arm—Sandy Koufax. Koufax and Palmer, the Orioles' 20-year-old right-hander, were looked in a scoreless duel when the sun fell in on the Dodgers in the fifth inning.

Comes The Break

Boog Powell started things with an opposite field single, only the second hit off Koufax, and then Dave Johnson fouled out. It hardly seemed time to do anything more than stifle a yawn when Blair lofted a fly to center.

Davis cruised under the ball, then lost it in the sun. He made a grab around his knees, but couldn't hold the ball and it fell for a two-base error.

Andy Etchebarren came up and hit the fourth pitch to him into short center. Davis chugged in again but motioned his arms for help as he again lost the ball for another error, then picked it up and compounded his mistake by throwing wild to third.

Luis Aparicio's double drove Etchebarren home with a third run—and it was all over but the cheering which greeted Davis when he returned to the outfield and caught a ball he and Lou Johnson were warming up with.

One Man To Third

Palmer, meanwhile, was putting his name in the record book, allowing only one Dodger to reach third base in a performance as surprising as the Dodgers' defensive collapse since he had completed only two of his last 20 regular-season games.

Palmer, who had pancakes for breakfast and the Dodgers for lunch, said he got the job done mostly with two pitches. "I had a good fast ball and a good curve," he said, "and that's what we're supposed to pitch to them."

The way Palmer pitched to them left the Orioles with thoughts of finishing the Series at home.

"We're not coming back here next week," said Coach Billy Hunter. "I said before the Series started that we'd only make one trip to Los Angeles, and that we'd win in five games."

Then he chuckled and added: "Now I don't know who's going to win one for them."

Maria Burdova, Russian Ace, Drives Apex Hanover in UN

Expert Moscow woman driver Maria Burdova and her ace 7-year-old stallion, Apex Hanover, will be representing the Soviet Union along with Russian-bred trotter Osman in the seventh annual $100,000 United National Trot on Saturday, Oct. 15, at Yonkers Raceway.

The naming of Apex Hanover and Osman thus completes the field of foreign trotters in the U.N. Previously invited was France's fashionable 5-year-old mare, Roquepine, a lifetime winner of almost $300,000. Roquepine, Apex Hanover and Osman will match steps with five American free-for-all stars to be selected following this Saturday's (Oct. 8) $50,000 Gotham Trot at Yonkers.

Maria Burdova, who prefers to be known professionally by her unmarried name although she is wed to Soviet driver Alexander Levin, was widely applauded in this country last year for her horsemanship. The 31-year-old Miss Burdova quickly established herself as a first-rate driver by winning her first two in "catch-driving" roles with pacer Fox and trotter Crystal Speed.

Made Rare Break

Shortly thereafter, in the $50,000 all-foreign Transoceanic Trot, Maria piloted Apex Hanover to a second place finish behind Elaine Rodney. But in the U.N. finale, Apex Hanover made one of his rare breaks and finished sixth. Maria later took Apex Hanover to Monticello Raceway where he captured the $7,500 American Friendship Trot at 1½ miles. In those three races, Apex Hanover won $16,250 to bring his lifetime winnings to $134,933 through 1965.

At the Moscow Hippodrome last July Apex Hanover won the $8,333 International Peace Prize for the second straight year. He was clocked in an imposing 2:01 2/5 in the first dash, and scored again in 2:03 in the second go-around against an international lineup of European and Asian standouts. Last Winter in Paris, Apex Hanover missed by a half length of defeating the celebrated mare Elma in the $50,000 Prix de France at the Vincennes course, outside Paris.

Nikita Enjoying Beauty of Nature, Not Out of Choice

MOSCOW (AP) — The countryside around Moscow has had a magnificently sunny summer, and now autumn leaves brighten the rolling hills.

Appreciation of the rural Russian scenery is marred for one country squire, however, Nikita S. Khrushchev, former Communist party boss, lives quietly with the beauty of nature but not out of choice.

In the two years since he was ousted from power, Khrushchev has spent his time walking, putting in a garden, doing a little hunting in the birch and pine woods, and reading.

Few Old Friends Call

Occasionally he is visited by old friends who still remember the ebullient, earthy little man who rattled nuclear rockets at the world. Those are personal friends rather than the colleagues who turned unexpectedly on him Oct. 14, 1964, and stripped him of the Soviet premiership and Communist party leadership.

About 20 friends drove out to Khrushchev's country villa last April 17 to help him celebrate his 72nd birthday with a barbecue. His four children go out frequently to see Khrushchev and his wife, Nina Petrovna, 66. The grandchildren — five at last report — romp on the lawn.

The Khrushchevs are comfortably pensioned in a pleasantly spacious house near the village of Petrovsky Dalny, about 25 miles west of Moscow.

The Khrushchevs also have an apartment in downtown Moscow three-quarters of a mile from the Kremlin. Mr. Khrushchev uses it occasionally on shopping trips.

Her husband rarely goes there — because he still attracts a crowd. The new leaders apparently do not like that. They provide a chauffeur and the chauffeur may have other duties than simply taking instructions from the passenger.

Comes in to Vote

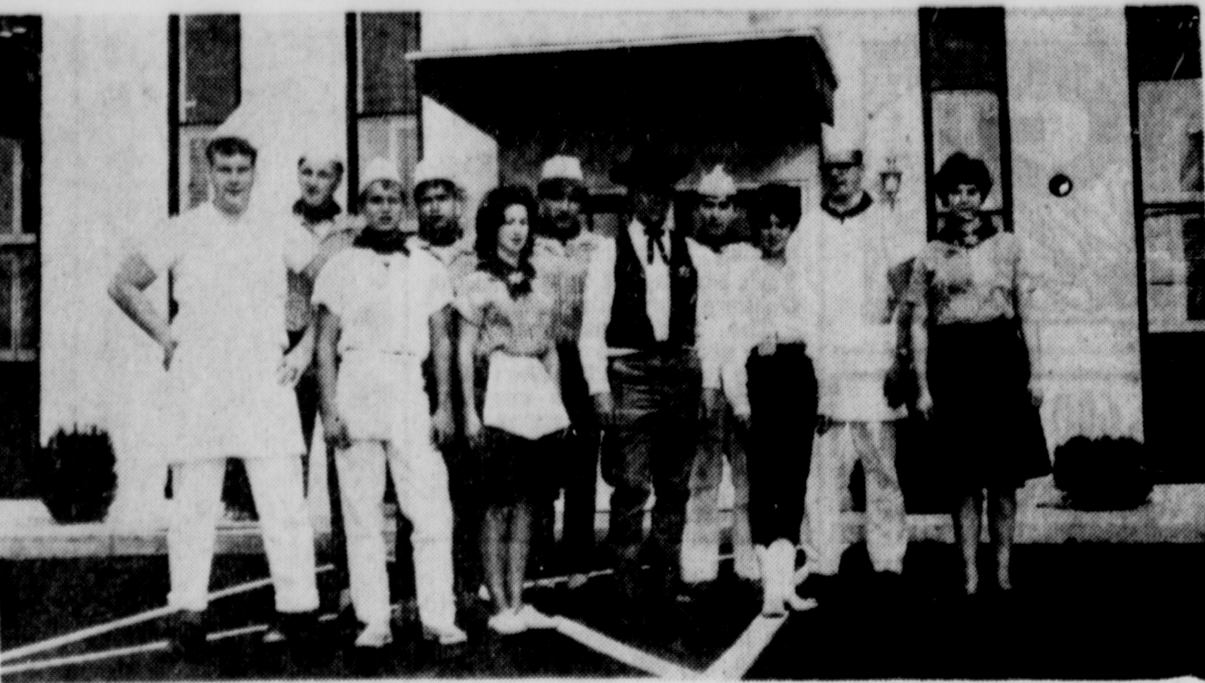

Khrushchev has come to town twice to vote. The first time, exactly five months after his ouster, was carefully arranged by the authorities. It proved that he was well and living peacefully, but he looked like a man, eating himself up with frustration.

His most recent appearance was at the parliamentary elections June 12. Khrushchev voted for his successor, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. With the expiration of his own term in Parliament, Khrushchev lost his last official job.

Khrushchev said then that he had been sick.

"But everyone gets sick now and again," he added.

The word aquarium was first used by the Romans, who built large outdoor pools to raise fish for food.

NEW ULSTER EATERY OPENS—Richard Bruce, head wrangler of the Bonanza Siroin Pit, Route 9W, Town of Ulster takes time out with his staff of workers prior to this week's special party for invited guests, including members of the press. The self-service steakhouse, reportedly America's fastest growing chain in the field, held its grand opening Thursday. The Bonanza will be open daily. (Freeman photo by Wagenföhr.)

Dear Abby . . .

'Skilled' Laborer Not Common

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband has had 5 years of college. He works long hours (no overtime pay) in a position of responsibility with a large, highly respected firm. His judgement is heavily relied upon. But some of the men who operate the machinery make more money than my husband. This hurts.

For instance, our neighbor never finished high school, but because he has a unionized job of manual labor, his income far outstrips my husband's. It doesn't seem fair that with all my husband's education he isn't able to give his family as much as some uneducated laborers.

I am not saying common laborers should make less, but in a society screaming for youngsters to get an education, it's ironic that uneducated laborers should make more than college graduates. I hope you aren't too frightened by big business to answer.

DEAR EDUCATED: I don't blame you for being resentful, but perhaps what you term 'common laborers' are skilled laborers in their fields. Many men who have never seen the inside of a college (or high school) have a technical knowledge equal in importance to some college educations.

I, too, would like to see higher education bring greater rewards, but don't confuse a man's worth with his college education or the lack of it.

DEAR ABBY: Men think nothing of wearing a suit for 4 and maybe 5 years. Some even longer. So can you please tell me why a woman won't wear last year's dress?

DEAR CURIOUS: Some don't want to. Others can't.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 28-year-old man who needs some womanly advice. About a year ago I got a little drunk and hooked up with a 40-year-old married woman. We were intimate right away and to make a long story short, she and her two sons, 12 and 14, moved into my apartment.

Her divorce came thru shortly after and we made plans to marry. Then I started finding out things about her that didn't add up. She said she lost her first husband in the war. I found out they were divorced and he's still living. She told me her parents were both dead. I found out they are living right in this town, but she never sees them. She said she had no other children except the boys. I found out she has two older daughters, living with relatives.

When I brought up these things she said it is all in the past and she doesn't want to talk about it. Now I am wondering what kind of person would lie about things like that, and why I care for her, Abby, but should I marry a woman if I can't believe a word she says?

DEAR WONDERING: If you do, you ought to have your head examined.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. J. H.: Instead of yearning for some kind of immortality, remember the words of Benjamin Franklin: "If you would not be forgotten, either write things worth reading, or do things worth the writing."

Local YMCA Is Host to Korean Program Leader

Chong-Soo Lee, program director of the Kwang Ju, Korea YMCA is presently a guest of the Kingston and Ulster County YMCA, and will be in Kingston studying YMCA procedures and programs through Oct. 8. Lee's visit to the Kingston Association was scheduled by the National Council of YMCA's of the United States through the YMCA International Committee.

Lee said that $20,000 of the money which builds his 300,000 square feet YMCA in Kwang Ju was contributed by the YMCA's of the United States and Canada through the International Committee. Lee emphasized that much more can be constructed for $20,000 in Korea than in the United States.

Lee said that the YMCA in his city in Korea is truly the center for community activities of all kinds, and provides a meeting place where all minds may come together and discuss freely. The emphasis in their program to date has been on social, cultural, and educational events since these are the areas of greatest need. Even though his YMCA is short staffed, Lee was sent to the United States for six months in order that he might study the methods of operation of established YMCA's in North

Mark Tax Day To Hit Governor On Unkept Pledge

NEW YORK (AP) — The John J. Burns has sent out a call rallying the party's leaders Tuesday "Rockefeller Tax Day," and they don't mean it as a compliment.

Democratic State Chairman Burns sent letters to party chairmen in the 62 counties Thursday urging them to remind the voters on Tuesday of Rockefeller's pledge — made while he was running for a second term — that he would not increase taxes during the next four years.

The democrats plan to distribute posters and literature recalling Rockefeller's promise to the voters on Oct. 11, 1962. "I can say to you categorically that there will be no increased taxes in the next four years."

The Republican governor, now running for a third term, said long ago that the pledge was a "bloop," and that fiscal developments he had not foreseen made tax increases necessary.

The Democratic gubernatorial candidate, Frank D. O'Connor said Thursday that reorganization of the state's governmental structure and broader home rule for New York City and other municipalities should be the two key reforms to be considered at next year's state constitutional convention.

O'Connor, New York City council president, made the statement before a study group of the Democratic state committee that is holding public hearings to get suggestions for constitutional revision at the convention.

Lowering of the voting age from 21 to 18 was another item that O'Connor said the convention delegates should consider.

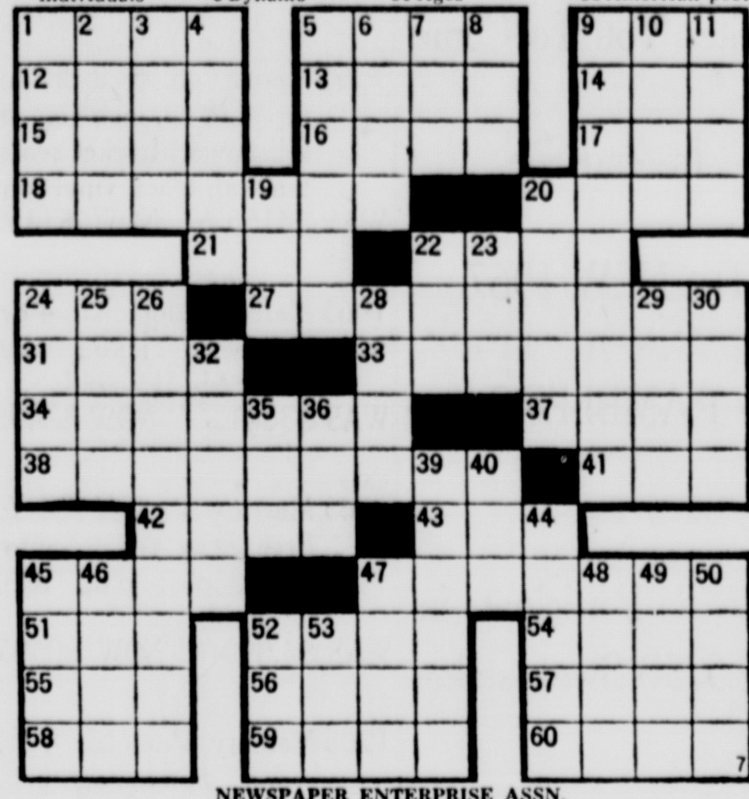

O'Connor, saying that police functions in the state overlap, proposed creation of a state department of justice. Among his other suggestions were periodic reapportionment by a bipartisan state body, and abolition of the convention system of nominating candidates for state judgeships.

O'Connor accused Rockefeller of "resistance to constitutional reform."

Income 'Take' Up

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — It might not impress those who pay it, but collections from the states personal income tax for the first-half of the current fiscal year are a third higher than a similar period last year.

That was the report issued Thursday by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, who commented that "at the present rate, total personal income-tax collections for this year will be well in excess of Gov. Rockefeller's estimate of $1.46 billion."

Levitt reported that net collections through Sept. 30 totaled $834 million as compared with $626 million in the 1965 period. He said that at the current rate, collections may exceed $1.6 billion.

Questions and Answers on Federal Tax

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I just returned from military duty in Viet Nam. What do I do about a tax return? I haven't filed yet.

A—You have an automatic extension of 180 days from the time you left Viet Nam before your return has to be filed. For servicemen who are hospitalized outside the U. S. as a result of wounds, disease or injury incurred while serving in a combat zone, the 180 days extension begins after discharge from the hospital. When filing your return be sure to attach a statement showing the inclusive dates of combat zone service or hospitalization.

Q—My wife and I were just divorced. Is there any way I can take an extra exemption (for withholding purposes) to make up for the alimony I'm paying? Unless I can, I'm going to be greatly over-withheld.

A—At present, there is no provision for you to take an extra exemption for this purpose. However, starting next year, taxpayers who have deductible expenses that substantially exceed the standard deduction may file a new Form W-4 for an additional withholding allowance. Based on your withholding experience this year, you may be eligible to use this new withholding provision of the law when it goes into effect. You may determine if you qualify for this additional withholding allowance by filling out Schedule A (Form W-4).

Q—What kind of background do you need to be a Revenue Agent?

A—Most of the new agents hired by the IRS are college graduates with an accounting background. Brochures describing a career with the IRS may be obtained by writing to the personnel office of the District Director for your District.

Q—I saw an article in the paper recently about some IRS personnel in South America. What are they doing there?

A—IRS personnel are there under the Alliance for Progress program. Tax reforms is a major goal of the Alliance and the United States is sending teams of tax experts to those nations that ask for our help.

The role of the Revenue Service is to provide assistance in the area of tax administration, in cooperation with the Agency for International Development of the State Department. We presently have tax teams in 16 Latin countries. Similar assistance is offered to under-developed nations in other parts of the world.

Q—I give my maid lunch. Do I have to pay Social Security tax on that too?

A—No. Social Security tax applies only on cash wages. You do not have to include the value of the meal you provide.

Q—I've been supporting my mother for years but an IRS agent says I can't claim her as a dependent unless I can substantiate my claim. What right does he have to say that?

A—The law requires that each of five separate tests be met in order for you to claim the $600 exemption for your mother. One, and rated by the New York State Department of Civil Service in accordance with the Civil Service Law.

Woodstock School Is Picked For a Pilot TV Experiment

Educational television has emerged as one of the magical projects of the 1960's. As an educational aid, it has been praised across the length and breadth of the nation and, shortly, a TV pilot program will be implemented in the Woodstock School. Students at the school will be able to take advantage of the tie-in with Channel 13, an educational station long lauded for its programming. To start this experimental program here this year, the Ontario Board of Education recently transferred $2,000 from the Vocational Education Fund to the Research and Development Fund. Woodstock was picked for the pilot project because the town is now serviced by Cablevision,

Official Board Studies Budget

"Where Laymen Fall" will be the sermon topic at Overlook Methodist Church this Sunday. Worship service at 11 a. m. with a nursery available for infants and toddlers. Church school at 9:45 a. m. (first grade through adult classes), and 11 a. m. (for beginners and Kindergartners). Choir officers, recently elected, are: Arnold Reynolds, president; Mrs. Daniel McFarland, secretary - treasurer; and Mrs. Arnold Reynolds, librarian. At a recent official board meeting, the budget for 1967 was presented by the finance commission, Harry Mirick, chairman, and approved by the board. It was also announced that the Second Building Fund Drive and the Every Member Canvass will get underway with a Congregational Dinner at the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club on Saturday, Oct. 22.

Robert Rifenburg, chairman of the board, spoke of the renovation in the church hall and thanked those who had given of their time and money to make the new Sunday school rooms possible.

Meetings this week include: Junior, Senior and Youth choirs Thursday evening; L & M (Lutheran and Methodist) Senior High Fellowship Sunday at 5 p. m.; and Junior High Fellowship Sunday evening also.

Long Contemplated
The pilot TV program has been in the work since last spring when Woodstock principal Walter Van Wagonen, asked Cablevision for estimates on room outlets for additional TV sets. Perhaps half a dozen new sets will be purchased and part of the cost of these will be reimbursed through State aid. Cost of the service for each child involved is estimated at $1.50 and part of this, too, is State reimbursable. A fee of approximately $200 will also be paid for an outside consultant to follow the program and make recommendations for its institution in the whole district. Any such recommendations might eventually involve a central antenna for all schools, since Channel 13 apparently intends to increase its power.

A teachers' workshop was held recently on the matter and a representative of Channel 13 briefed those attending on the possibilities and distributed manuals. Teachers here said the program sounds extremely interesting; is not aimed at replacing teachers but in augmenting their work and giving them a "taking off" point for pupil instruction. As described to teachers, the TV pilot program would be an "added tool" for teaching local students.

List Registration For Voting Dates, Time and Places

Woodstock Town Clerk Marjorie Harder has issued a reminder that voter registration dates for the upcoming November election are scheduled here this month.

Two registration days have been set aside in Woodstock - one this Saturday, from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m., and another Saturday, Oct. 15, from 1 to 10 p. m. only.

To be eligible to vote, one must have lived in New York State for one year; in Ulster County for four months; and in his Woodstock election district for 30 days. In addition, a voter must be at least a sixth grade graduate and at least 21 years of age by Nov. 8 of this year.

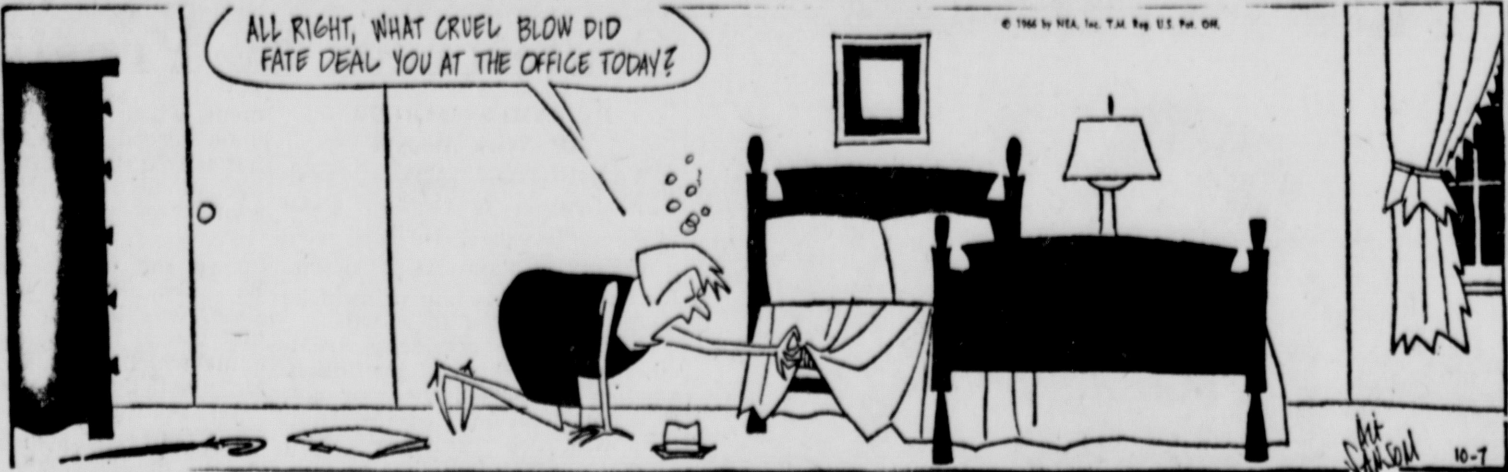

Woodstock voters should register in their regular polling places, as follows: District 1 (Mead Mountain side of the village) - Woodstock Town Hall, Tinker Street, District 2 (upper hamlet of the township through Wittenberg) - Bearsville Odd Fellows Hall, Bearsville - Wittenberg Road; District 3 (hamlet of Zena only) - Zena Firehouse, Zena Road; District 4 (Ohayo Mountain side of the village) - the former Hansen building, next door to the firehouse on Tinker Street.

Rocky Pleased By Reaction in Syracuse Area

By CHARLES DUMAS
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Gov.

Rockefeller wasn't too sure just what to expect when he brought his reelection campaign into the tax-conscious Syracuse area, but he went away grinning broadly.

"It was really encouraging," Rockefeller told a reporter. The Republican governor was elated by the surprisingly warm reception of area voters during two campaign appearances in the suburban towns of Onondaga and Camillus.

He drew large crowds and his audiences betrayed no evidence of the widespread resentment of his fiscal policies that local GOP officials had reported earlier in the year.

The GOP county chairman, Albert Gordon, said his organization was making headway in efforts to convince the voters that Frank D. O'Connor, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, would be a less palatable alternative in the traditionally Republican area.

Gordon told The Associated Press that he was now confident Rockefeller could carry the City of Syracuse and Onondaga County.

Winding up a two-day Upstate tour, Rockefeller flew back to New York City late Thursday night to campaign there.

Chrysler Resumes As Strike Ends

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. resumes production of 1967 model cars today following settlement of a strike over working conditions at its Twinsburg, Ohio, stamping plant.

A company spokesman said full production at six U.S. assembly plants would resume Monday. Operations at Chrysler of Canada Ltd. at Windsor, Ont., across the river from Detroit, were to resume Tuesday.

A strike by 4,000 United Auto Workers at the General Motors Corp. Chevrolet plants in St. Louis, Mo., moved into its fourth day with negotiations reportedly deadlocked.

Negotiators reported little progress at another GM facility in Kansas City where UAW Local 93 is holding a grievance talk over the work load at the Fisher body plant. Union members approved a strike 1,545 to 142 last Tuesday night but no decision on a walkout has been made.

After 1520, many established universities declared their independence from the Catholic Church.

Milder Period Is Forecast

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Extended forecast for Upstate New York, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from Saturday through Wednesday:

It will be considerably milder during the next four or five days than during the past several weeks. Temperatures generally will be around normal levels, with no major changes indicated.

There will be little or no rain-fall during the next few days. A rain period may develop near the middle of next week. Daytime highs will be in the 60s and low 70s during the next few days, except possibly near 60 in the extreme north. Nighttime lows will be in 40s and low 50s on most nights.

Olive Town Sets Budget Hearing For October 19

A public hearing on the preliminary budget of the Town of Olive will be held 8 p. m. Oct. 19. At the Oct. 4 town board meeting it was noted the preliminary budget was drawn up at a special meeting in late September.

Bills from the general funds in the amount of $865.48, and the highway funds in the amount of $1,902.60 were approved at the October meeting.

A sign is to be put up on Ridge Road setting a speed limit to deter reckless driving on that road.

A motion was made by Justice Bradford Kelder and seconded by Justice Frank Carse to purchase the dump from New York City, which was offered for $1,500 by the city. The area covers 18.3 acres. It has been noted that in spite of a custodian being present, and hours set for the dump to be open, there are still some people who dump their refuse outside the gates.

A representative of the State Employees Retirement System will be invited to attend a special board meeting with the employees present to explain the benefits and costs of a retirement system. This meeting will take place some time next month.

The Town Board has authorized Attorney Lynch to represent the Town of Olive to defend the town in a suit brought against them by the City of New York in a matter of assessment.

Back in Gotham

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank D. O'Connor is back in New York today after a quick visit to Washington in which he spent 45 minutes with President Johnson at the White House.

The Democratic gubernatorial candidate said the President Thursday night and said he neither asked nor received a "direct" endorsement from the chief executive in his campaign to unseat Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

But O'Connor said the President "indicated his desire that a Democrat be elected governor in the great state of New York." O'Connor said his trip was one of several he plans to make between now and the Nov. 8 election date to report to the President on the status of his campaign.

NURSES-TEACHERS MEET AT MULTI-MEDIA CENTER—The Kingston school nurses-teachers met at the Multi-Media Center in School No. 4, Lindsley Avenue, for the purpose of introducing the programs of the center to the group. Mrs. Frieda Dingee, right, director of the

Reading Goals Of Local Center Cited by Director

The recently established Multi-Media Center played host Wednesday to a meeting of the Kingston school nurse-teachers.

This, the regular meeting of the school nurse-teachers, was conducted at the Multi-Media Center by Miss Kathleen Shurter, supervisor of nurse-teachers, for the purpose of introducing, in some detail, the work of the Multi-Media Center to the nurse-teachers.

Emphasis was given to the physiological-neurological factors involved in a complete diagnosis of learning disability and the important role these factors often play in arriving at a meaningful evaluation.

Mrs. Frieda Dingee, director of the center, narrated a brief slide presentation which graphically illustrated the work of the Multi-Media Center.

Explains Techniques

Mrs. Marguerita Mahoney, staff nurse-social worker, explained the visual and auditory screening techniques and instruments involved in the diagnosis of reading disability. In addition, she discussed the nature of the medical examination given to those young people referred to the center. She pointed out that a neurological examination was given to each child referred for help. This exam is an important part of the battery of tests given each child eligible for help at the Multi-Media Center. Other parts of the battery include a psychological evaluation and a thorough reading evaluation. All testing is individual. Upon completion of testing, a staff conference discusses each case, arrives at an evaluation, and prescribes what ever remedial help is necessary, if any.

Purpose of Center

The purpose of the Multi-Media Center is to determine the cause or causes of reading disability, to prescribe learning techniques necessary for the alleviation of the disability, and to carry out these recommendations in remedial reading settings during the school year. These remedial groups range in size from six children to only one child where desirable. Grouping is determined by the nature of the reading problem a child has. Remedial instruction is conducted in eight schools throughout the entire school year.

Area Scouters Are Attending Conference

Six area residents were slated to leave today to attend a two-day annual meeting of Region 2, Boy Scouts of America in Atlantic City, N. J.

They are Scout Executive Alex MacDonald, Hurley; Rip Van Winkle Council President Oliver Tweedy and Mrs. Tweedy; Gifford R. Beal, Highland, a National Council representative, and Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Morrow, Maplecrest, Greene County. Morrow also is a National Council representative.

Region 2 Boy Scouts of America takes in New York, New Jersey, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

The council president's dinner is slated for tonight where there will be an address on "Volunteer Scouters and the Membership Program" by Robert L. Billington, assistant chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America.

102 Today

TONAWANDA, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Anna Vetter, a native of Buffalo, observed her 102nd birthday today.

She lives with two daughters, Mrs. Agnes Gau and Mrs. Marion Smith.

Their home is at 327 Hinds St.

Amenia Barn Burns

A spectacular fire that was fought by four fire companies on Thursday night, destroyed a large barn on the Raymond McEnroe farm in Amenia. Chief Fred Selfridge of the local fire department commanded firefighters at the scene. The barn, 75 by 100 feet and 1½ story, was destroyed. The origin of the blaze was not immediately determined.

Saugerties Board Okays Tax Relief For the Elderly

Saugerties Town Board members unanimously approved a 50 per cent tax exemption on properties owned by residents aged 65 or over Thursday night.

In a related action, board members scheduled an open hearing on the exemption for 8 p. m., Oct. 27, to explain all aspects of the matter to interested residents.

The approval was given following a public hearing on the proposal held last Thursday, when members reserved decision on the matter.

More than 100 persons attended the public hearing the majority of those covered by exemption.

In other action last night, board members scheduled a public hearing on the preliminary budget for 2 p. m., Nov. 10 and agreed to hold another public hearing, on a projected rate hike for the Videcom community television system, at a later date.

According to Town Clerk Miss Marion Newkirk, the hike proposal was explained last night by representatives from Videcom of Saugerties Inc., operators of the system. Miss Newkirk said rising costs and expansion of the system were cited as reasons for the proposal. She said the current $4.50 per month charge is expected to go to $5 per month if approval is granted.

Review Various Types News Conferences by President

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is restless about news conferences. He has tried a variety of them, as if looking for one that suits him or as if he doubts any one of them will.

Other recent presidents treated them as a kind of institution, whether they liked them or not. But not Johnson, judging from the way he switches them around and the fact that he only holds them now and again.

Tried All Kinds

He has tried the ambulatory conference, strolling on the White House lawn with reporters taking notes and skipping to keep up; the televised, the non-televised, and the radio-only kind; the spur of the moment and the announced in advance kind.

He has tried conferences with a microphone around his neck or in front of him; with the camera close up or at a distance; in big rooms and in his office.

When he talks he could be any one of many senators talking at a hearing in a committee room. He has no unique style but gives the impression of searching for one.

If he seems different from recent presidents, they were different from one another, too. He lacks the charm of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the ease of John F. Kennedy. But he is more coherent than Dwight D. Eisenhower and far less cocky and belligerent than Harry S. Truman.

Cite Surprise

While he is no wit and his utterances are not on the same plane as the delicate sonority of the King James Bible, he has a keen dramatic sense which he employs, not for the conflict implicit in drama, but for surprise.

Some times the way he springs a surprise is more surprising than the surprise itself, which is one of the uses he makes of a news conference by wrapping the surprise in an announcement.

A president could make an announcement in written form, handed to reporters. But this lacks the bang of making the same announcement to a mob of newsmen close up.

This explains, perhaps, why Johnson likes to use a news conference for a surprise announcement.

ment, which at times seems the main reason for calling the conference in the first place since not all his conferences sparkle with news.

For example: It had been known for months that George W. Ball, undersecretary of state, was leaving. This started the usual Washington guessing game which, in this case, lasted for months.

Johnson played mum and the name of Ball's successor was one of the best kept secrets of Johnson's almost three years in the White House. Then he arranged a news conference which was at first billed as simply a news briefing but turned into a news conference.

He announced he had chosen Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach for Ball's place. This was a surprise, since it meant Katzenbach was stepping down a notch (and who would ever have thought of that?), but less of a surprise than the way Johnson chose to reveal this extremely important appointment.

He didn't announce it formally. It was only near the end of the conference, when a reporter happened to ask who'd get Ball's job, that Johnson said it would be Katzenbach.

Yet, the announcement was probably Johnson's main reason for calling the conference since everything else he said was secondary to this news.

At his televised conference Thursday, Johnson switched the technique, rattling off before reporters could ask a question a list of men he had just selected for high government posts at home and abroad.

Again this seemed the main reason for calling the conference. Johnson's answers to most of the questions the reporters finally asked were vague or negative. He made few positive statements.
